

Amelia and Two Companions are Unhurt in Crash

Undercarriage Damaged In Attempted Howland Island Hop

LONG DELAY SEEN 'Means Postponement, But Not Cancellation,' She Says

Honolulu — (P)—Amelia Earhart's around the world plane skidded and crashed today while she was attempting to take off for Howland island on her world flight but she and her two men companions escaped injury.

The plane skidded on the wet concrete runway and the right wheel blew out, wrecking the undercarriage.

There was a burst of flame from the engine and ambulances raced to the scene. They arrived to find Miss Earhart, white faced, climbing from the wrecked craft.

"Something must have gone wrong," she exclaimed.

The globe girdling plane, which had carried the aviator safely from Oakland, Calif., tipped over on its left wing.

The flier's companions, Fred J. Noonan, and Captain Harry Manning, also escaped injury.

The attempted takeoff was made shortly after dawn for the second stage of the world flight, a hop of 1,532 miles to tiny Howland island, southwest of here.

Miss Earhart entered the plane at 8:10 a. m. (Pacific standard time), (10:10 C. S. T.) after Manning and Noonan had taken their places in the craft.

How Mishap Occurred

The motors were given a final warming up and then Miss Earhart "gunned" them as she headed down the concrete runway at Luke field at high speed.

The plane was about half way down the runway when the accident occurred. The tire on the right wheel blew out.

The aviator, at the controls, cut the ignition switches as the eight-ton plane swerved, thereby preventing fire.

A scattered crowd of about 75 watchers, mostly army men, saw a blast of flame spur from the left motor when the plane crashed, and then the fire died out.

Wheel Breaks Off

The left wheel snapped off and was hurled 40 feet from where the plane came to rest. Both propellers were bent, the left one badly.

The crash occurred at 8:19 a. m. (Pacific standard time) (10:19 a. m. C. S. T.).

Miss Earhart stood in the cockpit, to show she was not hurt, and shouted to army officers.

She was attempting a daylight takeoff for Howland island after receiving reports there was cloudy weather as far as 200 miles south of here, and favorable weather thence to Howland.

The plane was loaded with between 800 and 900 gallons of gasoline.

Miss Earhart explained the accident was caused by a tire blowout and remarked: "No one is hurt. Only our spirits are bruised."

Won't Cancel Flight

Miss Earhart said, "This means postponement of my world trip, but not cancellation."

She announced the plane probably would be sent back to the factory for repairs.

"We were going about 50 miles an hour when the right tire blew out," she said. "I cut the switches."

A bright yellow lei which adorned her neck at the start had disappeared but she was unruined otherwise.

Noonan and Manning returned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Holmes.

Paul Mantz, Miss Earhart's technical adviser, remained at the field to survey the damage. He had accompanied her on the record breaking hop from Oakland, but had left the plane here.

Mantz found that in addition to the smashed undercarriage and twisted propellers and wing, both the motor mount and stabilizer were bent.

The ground around the plane was covered with gasoline. Army officers took precautions against fire.

Many estimated repairs would take about two weeks at the factory, but four months if done here.

Dewey Joins Murphy in Efforts to Reach Agreement in Dispute

Detroit — (P)—Police, wearing bullet-proof vests and armed with tear gas guns, ended a three-weeks sit-down strike in the plant of the Newton Packing company here this afternoon.

Entering the plant by breaking a hole in a plate glass window the officers, acting on a body attachment, with met and women strikers nearly 100 men and women strikers into patrol wagons. The strikers were taken to the county jail for court appearances on Monday.

The officers were led by Deputy Sheriff Bernard McGrath, who read the eviction order to the strikers from outside the plant.

Rosenberg Parole Records Offered In Court Action

Introduced in Commissioner's Suit Despite Sharp Protest

Milwaukee — (P)—After sharp protest and under a ruling by Circuit Judge C. Kleczka, Colonel John J. Hannan, chairman of the state board of control, yesterday produced records and documents concerning the prison parole of L. J. Rosenberg held by the board to be inviolate.

Robert S. Marx, counsel for the First Wisconsin National bank in the civil action brought against it by the state banking commission, sought the evidence.

The commission is suing for recovery of collateral furnished by the defendant Liberty State bank, of which Rosenberg was president, for First Wisconsin loans. It charges the loans were illegal.

Rosenberg, who was convicted of falsifying bank statements, has been attending the trial under guard but was returned to state prison yesterday. His parole in May 1935, was declared illegal by the state supreme court in October, 1935.

"State Secrets" Claim

Attorney General O. S. Loomis, who came with Hannan, argued the records on which the board of control based its parole of Rosenberg were "state secrets."

Judge Kleczka finally ruled Hannan should testify regarding proceedings subsequent to the granting of the Rosenberg parole.

Among the documents produced were four applications for parole by Rosenberg and Hannan said a fifth one, which had not come to the board, was awaiting a hearing at Waupun, a record of the statutory interview of Rosenberg by prison officials when he entered Waupun, and reports by Rosenberg to the board during his parole period. The latter outlined his compliance with conditions of his parole.

Hannan, under cross-examination by Affidavit, denied there were any recommendations to the board of control on the Rosenberg matter by the banking commissioners or any employees of the commission.

Inherits $40,000 From Friend During War Days

Kiel, Wis. — Arnold Eckhardt was richer by $40,000 today because he could speak German.

A Chicago attorney informed Eckhardt he had inherited the estate of Carl von Nagel whom Eckhardt had met during the World war.

Eckhardt, a member of Company C of Sheboygan, was the only one of a group of Americans who was able to speak German fluently, and consequently became a close friend of Von Nagel. They lived together for four months while Eckhardt was stationed in the Rhine sector.

Although the two men continued their friendship through correspondence, Eckhardt was unaware of his friend's death until notified of the legacy.

Youthful Burglar Gets Five Reformatory Terms

Milwaukee — (P)—Joseph Kopacka, 17, Milwaukee, who police said admitted 24 burglaries and automobile thefts, was sentenced yesterday to five terms of 1 to 7 years and another of 1 to 5 years, all to run concurrently, in the Green Bay reformatory. He was arrested Sunday after being wounded by a policeman.

Walter Kojis, 19, Milwaukee, was sentenced to five years when police said he admitted being involved in 20 thefts with Kopacka.

Retired Justice Expected to Back Roosevelt's Plan

San Diego, Calif. — (P)—John H. San Clarke, 79, only living retired justice of the United States Supreme court, is "in cordial sympathy with the New Deal and aims of its social agencies."

This was the only comment on his address, scheduled for next Monday, that he would make when interviewed here last night.

"I'll say what I have to say then," he declared. "I do not wish to make known my views on the president's court program at this time."

The former justice recalled he was a lifelong Democrat, appointed to the supreme court in 1916 by President Wilson.

He was succeeded by Justice George Sutherland, appointed by President Harding in 1922.

People's Front in France Prepares For New Outbreak

Mobile Guards Moved in From Provinces to Various Parts of Paris

Paris — (P)—The people's front supporting socialist Premier Leon Blum reinforced its capital defenses today amid rightist threats of a possible uprising.

Numerous platoons of mobile guards—the exact number was undisclosed—were brought from the provinces and stationed in various parts of the Paris area after Colonel Francois de la Rocque, fiery rightist leader, sounded an ominous note of warning.

Protesting the government's ban on political party meetings, De la Rocque declared: "I cannot take responsibility for immense uprisings which such tyrannical acts may arouse."

The rightist leader's statement, coinciding with the close of a government investigation into his political party, was considered in political circles as a direct warning against dissolution of the group he organized after the government broke up his semi-military Croix de Feu.

Well-informed sources believed Premier Blum would announce such a ban Tuesday.

Meanwhile the government authorized a labor procession at the funeral tomorrow for victims of the Clichy riot, in which five were killed and approximately 300 injured during a clash between communists and police protesting De la Rocque's followers Tuesday.

Suspect Held in Murder of Child

Brooklyn Barber Has Confessed Guilt, New York Police Report

New York — (P)—Within a few hours after the discovery of the body of a 9-year-old girl, stuffed in a blood-soaked burlap bag and mutilated, police today arrested Salvatore Ossa, a Brooklyn barber, father of two children, and charged him with the crime.

Detective Lieutenant Ralph B. DeMartino, of the Wilson avenue police station, said Ossa had confessed he attacked and killed the child.

The victim, Erna Sporer, a pretty blue-eyed blonde, was found by Roman Yaskowitz, who saw the crimson-stained bag clutched on the front porch of a two-story brick house at 313 Linden street, a short distance from the girl's home.

The burlap sack was spotted with green paint, and Yaskowitz, on opening the bundle, was horrified to find the small victim's lifeless body inside.

MINNESOTA GIRL SLAIN

Minneapolis — (P)—The body of an 18-year-old student beauty operator was found lying face down on the ground at the rear of a vacant house early today. Police said she had been strangled and criminally attacked.

The dead girl was identified as Laura Kruse of Pine City, Minn. She was reported missing at 4 o'clock a. m. when she failed to return home from a student party. The body was found at 8 o'clock a. m.

The collar of the girl's dress had been torn loose. The girl's neck bore large welts as if she had been choked. Her fingers and hands were scratched. Her face and lips were bloody and bruised.

Fight Court Plan, Burke Asks Farmers

Editorial Writer Would Curb 'Arbitrary Power' of Tribunal

SEES THREAT TO U. S.

Tells Senate Committee 'Democratic Government' May 'Disappear'

Washington — (P)—The words controversy over President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposals brought forth today two new pleas for and against their enactment.

Irving Brant, St. Louis editorial writer, told the senate judiciary committee that if the supreme court is permitted to use "its arbitrary power to thwart the aspirations of the underprivileged masses, the democratic government we have known in the United States will disappear."

A short time later, Senator Burke (D-Neb.), a leading opponent of the president's program, appealed to farmers to join the opposition. He asserted in a radio address that the purpose of the court bill is "to make reasonably sure that the court will never again dare to act as an independent tribunal of justice."

Plea to Farmers

Burke said that "if the farmers of America will make their voice heard now, in one thunderous demand of 'hands off our supreme court,' we can once more move forward under the constitution to better days."

Testifying in behalf of the court legislation before the judiciary committee, Brant said: "You cannot train the American people to violence, as we have been doing for generations, without paying the penalty in violence down and hope disaster."

Brant, chief editorial writer on the St. Louis Star-Times, warned the committee that "you cannot allow five men to set themselves up in irresponsible aloofness and rule 125,000,000 people by judicial fiat."

"The question is," he said, "whether the legislative and executive branches of the government shall be held in the paralyzing embrace of a judicial straitjacket at a moment when freedom of action is imperative."

New Argument

Invites Seven Midwest States to Conference

Madison — (P)—Commissioner Frederick Schuchmeister of the state department of agriculture and markets sent invitations today to agricultural officials of seven midwest states to attend a conference in Chicago March 25 on uniform dairy legislation.

Agricultural commissioners of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Illinois, Iowa and Missouri were invited.

The legislature directed the department to arrange for the conference "to consider the effect of state laws permitting the manufacture and sale of low fat and high moisture content of cheese upon the dairy industry."

Woman Says 3 Robbers Tortured Her in Home

Chicago — (P)—Three young thugs, intent on robbery, tortured Mrs. Patsy Bobber, 25, by slashing three fingers of her left hand with a scissor in her apartment today she told police.

Mrs. Bobber said the men pushed her into a chair and one of them held her hand above her head while the other two slashed her fingers with a scissor. "Where's the big money? Where's the pay check you got today?"

She said she surrendered $35 which she had concealed in her clothing after the men continued to torture her.

5-Year-Old Boy Drowns In River at Merrimac

Persuades Strike Group to Release His Five Trucks

Lansing, Mich. — (P)—The glo tongue of Amos A. Sherman, Los Angeles, Calif., bakery operator, broke through the hard lines of a sit-down strike at the Reo Motor company plant today.

Sherman ordered and paid for five trucks a week before the strike started 11 days ago. When they failed to appear he hastened to Lansing.

Reo company officials said they could do nothing. Labor leaders told him to talk to the sit-downers.

At the plant yesterday Sherman spoke to five divisions of men. He talked for a half hour to win over each group.

A five-truck caravan rolled westward over the highways today. In the front seat of the first truck sat Sherman, the successful one-man bargaining agency.

Report Fascists Seize Portion of Northern Madrid

Purported Message From Mussolini Angers Loyalist Faction

Navalcarnero, Spain — (P)—Insurgent forces in the University City sector at Madrid's northwest corner were reported today to have smashed through the capital's defenses into northern Madrid.

Word of crumpled resistance and a sudden thrust into the long-besieged city was brought to this insurgent base by persons who said they witnessed the incursion.

The troops of General Francisco Franco were said to have beaten their way to positions near Calle de Bravo Murillo, a large thoroughfare bisecting the northern portion of city from north to south.

The sudden advance was made possible, it was said, by the failure of a government attack in the University City sector yesterday.

Madrid — (P)—Anti-fascist groups throughout Madrid screamed denunciation today of a purported telegram from Premier Benito Mussolini to Italian "legionnaires" on the insurgent side in Spain.

The telegram, which government commanders said they found among abandoned insurgent papers when they captured Britegua, northeast of Madrid, was addressed to "General Mancini." It apparently was sent, the government officers said, from a cruiser on which it duce traveled to Libya last week and said, in part: "I am certain that the impetus and leadership of our legionnaires will shatter the enemy's resistance."

Madridians declared the telegram was "conclusive evidence of Italian intervention in Spain." Morning newspapers, which were able to publish the document, only reluctantly because it was given out at a late hour, were bitter in their brief comment.

Planes Attack Rebels

On the northeast front government airmen lashed at General Francisco Franco's Guadalajara rear guard today with bombs and machine guns, striving to complete what General Jose Mija already termed the "unplacable defeat" of that Madridward offensive.

Officers said the insurgent forces, whom they described as Italian peasant, broke in wild confusion under the sudden strafing.

Bi-motored bombers and fast pursuit ships waged the onslaught to facilitate a two-headed push by government troops into the Guadalajara province territory they lost in the nearly two-week insurgent offensive.

One column drove northward along the main Arazon-Madrid, or Guadalajara road, having passed Gajanejos, 34 miles northeast of Madrid, captured yesterday in a 10-mile push.

The second column pressed westward toward the Guadalajara road from Cuernavaca, 32 miles northeast of Guadalajara city. Mija's reports of their advances placed each at the halfway mark toward their common objective, Almaden, 10 miles northeast of Gajanejos on the highway.

Paper Mill Group Backs Federation

Recommends New Efforts To Mend Rift With Lewis' C. I. O.

Chicago — (P)—The American Federation of Labor today had the backing of 25,000 members of the International Brotherhood of Paper, Pulp and Paper Mill Workers in the victory of the John L. Lewis committee for industrial organization.

Representatives of the Pulp, Paper and Paper Mill Workers voted by acclamation last night to reaffirm affiliation with the A. F. of L. and recommended new efforts be made to mend the break between the A. F. of L. and the C. I. O.

The delegates approved a resolution supporting President Roosevelt's plan for reorganization of the supreme court and the federal judiciary.

Previously, approval was voted of a demand for a 15 cents an hour increase in the wages of members in the United States and Canada.

The delegates reported unskilled workers now receive between 25 and 52 cents an hour and skilled workers between 45 and $1.15.

Raymond Richards, Wisconsin Rapids, Wis. union vice president, said the 12 to 15 Wisconsin locals represented in the convention were "overwhelmingly in favor" of overhauling A. F. of L. allegiance. How individual local delegates voted was not disclosed.

Son of Slain Man Is Questioned in Double Shooting

Man and Former Housekeeper Found Dead in Indiana Home

New Albany, Ind. — (P)—The deaths of Albert E. Miller, 75, retired railroad section worker and his 46-year-old former housekeeper, Mrs. Alka Amy, were labelled "double murder" today by Police Chief Edward Meyers.

Meyers' statement was made today after more than 24 hours of investigation of the shooting.

The police chief declined to reveal, however, of paraffin tests made of the hands of Kenneth Miller, 34, son of the slain man, or of a two-hour conference with young Miller.

The body of Albert Miller, sprawled on the floor of the dining room of his home was discovered by Kenneth Miller when he returned home at 2:30 a. m. Friday from the Club Greyhound where he is floor manager. Mrs. Amy, fatally injured, was seated in a chair nearby. Miller was clad in his underwear and both of Mrs. Amy's shoes were off. A bed in the next room was disordered.

Tells Of Hiding Gun

Chief Meyers said the son admitted telling an older brother, Earl, 37, to hide a shotgun he threw out the window when he discovered the "tragedy" but explained he did not want people to think his father had killed himself. Police found the gun, with one shell discharged in a nearby barn.

The older Miller was shot in the back and Mrs. Amy, "winded in the hand," was badly battered about the head. She died early yesterday morning in a Leaville hospital.

Corner Frank Tyler of Troy, Conn., said he thought it impossible for either victim to have fired the shot and expressed the opinion Mrs. Amy had been wounded by the shotgun blast that killed Miller and then had been battered about the head with the butt of the gun.

However, Chief Meyers noted the woman as passing shortly after she died "all Miller shot me."

Police discovered nearly $1,000 in cash in a trunk in the room.

Hortonia Farmer To be Honored at Dairy Convention

John Dobberstein One of Six to be Recognized As "Outstanding"

John Dobberstein, town of Horton, is one of six Wisconsin farmers who will be honored as an outstanding dairyman at the state convention of the Wisconsin Dairymen's association at Oshkosh Tuesday and Wednesday.

Secretary and a former president of the Outagamie County Holstein Dairy Herd Improvement association No. 1, Mr. Dobberstein has been associated with herd testing work for 14 years. For 15 years he has been secretary of this association.

The work has been continuous excepting in 1935 and 1934 when the testing association dissolved temporarily.

Farms 138 Acres

He farms 138 acres with about 100 acres under cultivation and was one of the first to not the first in his community to grow alfalfa, using lime and other approved practices. He began his alfalfa work 20 years ago with a 2-acre experimental plot which he later increased to 39 acres of alfalfa each year. Three years ago he began use of Reed canary grass and is enthusiastic over its use as a lowland crop.

Dobberstein has been on this farm for 37 years and was married 32 years ago. He is 57 years old and has a family of four, three sons and a daughter. One of the sons was a tester for two years and now lives on a farm in a neighboring township.

Raises Cash Crops

As cash crops, Mr. Dobberstein raises some cabbage and potatoes. His stock of about 100 head of hogs produces eggs for a hatchery. He is a member of the township committee for the soil conservation program.

During his entire dairy farm experience, Mr. Dobberstein has used a purebred herd sire invariably. His herd average for 1935-36 was 324 pounds of butterfat. The record for other years was: 1919, 325; 1920, 303; 1921, 331; 1922, 368; 1923, 308; 1924-25, 336; 1925-26, 323; 1926-27, 354; 1927-28, 359; 1929-30, 322; 1930-31, 325; 1932-33, 310.

Call Meetings on Dairy Farm Plan

Quality Program Proposal May be Submitted To Legislature

Four district meetings at which county agricultural committees will study a proposed dairy quality program will be held in the state next week. R. C. Schultz, chairman of the Outagamie county committee and in charge of the district sessions, announced today.

The conferences will be held at Waushara Monday evening, Madison Tuesday, Wisconsin Rapids Wednesday and Eau Claire Thursday.

The quality program, which would include provision for licensing and inspecting all dairy farms in the state and a progressive 5-year program for increased sanitation, was approved at a meeting of agricultural committees from about 12 eastern Wisconsin counties at Green Bay last month. If it meets with approval at other district meetings in the state it probably will be presented to the legislature during the current session.

Miller Praises Appointment of Clarence Dykstra

Favored Appointment Because of Candidate's 'Liberalism'

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—The choice of Clarence A. Dykstra, former Cincinnati city manager, as president of the University of Wisconsin is a happy one, A. M. Miller, Little Chute, who as a member of the state university board of regents this week voted to appoint him, said here Friday.

Miller, who earlier had expressed the belief that selection of a university executive to succeed Glenn Frank should be made from the university faculty, said he is confident that Dykstra's successful record of municipal administration will prove valuable in his new job of governing the university.

The Little Chute regent said he voted for confirmation of Dykstra because of his liberal record, and that the new president's theories of education and university service would make him successful in his new job as head of the principal educational institution "in the most liberal state of the Union."

While in Madison this week, Miller also attended the session of the state senate as a committee of the whole in the hearings on the Severson labor disputes bill. He sat in the seat which he held as a state senator several years ago.

The bill, as originally drafted, has little chance of passage in the upper house, Miller predicted.

Commerce Body to Have Annual Meet

Fremont Chamber to Convene Monday Evening In Village Hall

Fremont—The annual meeting of the chamber of commerce will be held Monday evening at the village hall. The 1937 programs will be outlined and election of officers will take place.

Twenty-two tables were in play at the card party given at the village hall Thursday evening by Wolf Street Post No. 891 of the American Legion. Winners at schafskopf were Herman Redemann and Mrs. Albert Krueger, the latter of Larson, and at five hundred Mrs. Leonard Manske, New London, and Mrs. A. W. Pitt.

A class of six girls and six boys will be confirmed at a service at 10 o'clock Sunday morning at St. Paul's Lutheran church. The class is the regular confirmation for the first time Maundy Thursday at a service at 7:30 in the evening.

On Good Friday there will be German services with the celebration of holy communion will be conducted at 9:30 and Easter Sunday, German services will be held at 9:30 in the morning and English services at 10:45. The choir, under the direction of R. F. Schiebe, will assist in the services during holy week, beginning Sunday.

Members of the schafskopf club and their husbands were entertained at a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loecker Friday evening in honor of Mr. Loecker's birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Arthur Hahn entertained at a "so-so" of schafskopf Friday afternoon.

The condition of Mrs. Reno Drews is reported to be favorable. She submitted to an operation at St. Elizabeth hospital at Appleton the first of the week.

Hear Talk on Reality

Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, discussed "Symbols and Realities" at the McKinley Junior High school assembly Monday evening. After Mr. Cox's talk, Mildred Leisner played a violin solo and Rita Lutz and Phyllis Turney presented a violin duet.

Churches Plan Observance of Palm Sunday Here

Triumphal Entry of Christ Into Jerusalem to be Commemorated

The triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem before his passion and death will be commemorated in all Christian churches, both Protestant and Catholic, tomorrow, Palm Sunday. So-called because of the palm branches which were strewn in front of Christ as he entered the city as a sign of homage to him, will be observed with special solemnity, many of the sermons in the local churches being built around the theme of the triumphal entry into Jerusalem.

In the Catholic churches, the blessing of palms and the distribution of it to the faithful is an important part of the day's services. Palms, in the Catholic church, are used for protection against adversity and to obtain blessings for the homes, and this idea is clearly expressed in the prayers whereby the church blesses palms.

Special Feature

A special feature of the morning service Sunday at Memorial Presbyterian church will be the presentation of Gounod's motet, "Gloria," by the chorus choir of the church with Madame Elsa Behlert-Bauer of Mission House college, Plymouth, as guest soloist. Marshall Hulbert is the choir director. The Rev. Robert K. Bell, pastor, will preach on "We Believe in Jesus Christ."

Three events of importance are scheduled for Sunday at First Congregational church. At the morning service the oratorio, "The Seven Last Words" by Mercadante, will be presented with Helen Mueller, Florence Roate Krabbe, Madge Heller, Maesch, George Nixon and Gertrude Bernhardt as soloists. At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, the Northland college capella choir of Ashland will present a concert of sacred music under the direction of Prof. Sigvart J. Steen.

Union Services

The first of the union holy week services in which most of the Protestant church will participate will be held at 7:45 Sunday night at First Congregational church with Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, preaching the sermon on "The Comfort of the Cross."

Forty young people of St. Paul Lutheran church will be confirmed Sunday morning at the church, with the Rev. F. M. Brandt, pastor, in charge. There will be an English service at Pastor Brandt on "A Good Report."

The Sunday school children of St. John Evangelical and Reformed church will participate in the morning service at 10:15 Sunday at the church, carrying palm branches as they march in and sing their songs. The pastor, the Rev. A. Guenther, will speak on "The Triumphal King."

Install Acousticon

An acousticon has been installed at First Methodist Episcopal church and will be tried for the first time tomorrow morning. Six sets of earphones are available for those with impaired hearing. "The Cross and Courage" is the subject of the sermon to be preached by Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor, at the morning service at 10:15 Sunday at the church. At St. Mary's Lutheran church, the Rev. G. H. Blum, pastor, will speak on "The Christ Triumphant" at the morning service at his church at which time there will be a short graduation exercise for the catechism class.

"The Taking of Human Life" will be the sermon subject of the Rev. D. E. Bosserman, pastor, Sunday morning at Trinity English Lutheran church. At St. Martin's Lutheran church, the Rev. Philip A. C. Froehke, will preach on "God's Name" and at St. Olive Lutheran church the sermon by the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer will be entitled, "Christ the Son of God—the Way to Life."

Sermon Subject

The Rev. Theodore Marth, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, will preach Sunday morning on "Palm Sunday and the Passion King." At First Baptist church, the Rev. C. Reuter will be entitled "Who is Your King?" and at First Evangelical and Reformed church the Rev. John Schieb, Kaukauna, will preach on "Life's Harvest."

Another sermon on the Palm Sunday theme will be that given by the Rev. R. H. Spangler, pastor of First Baptist church, at the Sunday morning service. The subject will be "Jesus Comes to Jerusalem."

Commissioner Bruno Friedrich, guest preacher at the Salvation Army temple this week, will give the sermon at 11 o'clock Sunday morning on "Holiness of Heart." In the evening he will give his final sermon on "The Great Judgment Day."

Cartoonist to Speak

Vaughn R. Shoemaker, chief cartoonist for the Chicago Daily News, will be the speaker at the morning service Sunday at the Gospel temple. His subject to be "Christ in the Newspaper." The evening sermon will be entitled "The Story of the Future." At the afternoon service at New Appleton tabernacle Sunday, the Rev. G. H. Bauerlein will speak on "The Blood of Christ" and at the evening service he will preach on "The Charter of the Cross." "Matter" is the subject of the sermon-subject for Sunday at First Church of Christ, Scientist.

SCHOOL HEAD HURT. SON KILLED

Among those injured in the terrific explosion which killed hundreds of New London, Tex., children in the nation's worst school catastrophe, was W. C. Shaw, superintendent of the million dollar Consolidated school which was laid in ruins by the blast. Here he is a few hours later wearing a bandage on one hand. His 17-year-old son, Sam, was killed. Cite Appleton's Experience With Religious School in Assembly Debate

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison — The delicate subject of religious instruction and the public schools popped up suddenly in the assembly Thursday and resulted in an hour of spirited discussion.

Legislators, with but one exception, were agreed that religious instruction should remain forever divorced from the public school system. Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Jr. of Appleton unwittingly stirred up the hornet's nest with the introduction of an amendment to a bill by Senator Oscar Paulson, who is in private life a Lutheran minister at LaCrosse, which would have provided that pupils in the public schools, at the wish of their parents, be excused for a short period weekly for religious instruction. Paulson's bill specifically prohibited this instruction in public school buildings, which moved Catlin to introduce an amendment making the use of public school buildings for such purposes optional with local school boards. In order, he said, to protect the Appleton religious day school.

Describes System

According to Catlin, the Appleton religious day school has been operating successfully for 19 years, and has the use of the public school buildings with the consent of local authorities. Catlin, who said he once attended such instruction in his home city, described the system to his colleagues, saying that the instruction is financed by local churches who make small annual contributions. The Paulson bill would end this practice, he said, despite the fact that there has been no criticism from any source in Appleton.

Despite the fact that the bill was foredoomed, half a dozen members insisted on speaking their minds on the subject. Assemblyman Biemiller, Milwaukee Socialist, quoted Thomas Jefferson on the dangers of mixing religion and the public school system, while Assemblyman Maxville, Fitzsimmons, Democrat, Fond du Lac, declared that his forefathers came to America to escape a similar evil.

After an hour of oratory, during which Assemblyman H. S. Halverson, Westby, was the lone defender of the measure, the assembly rejected the Catlin amendment and the original bill. Halverson, who is the author of a bill identical with Senator Paulson's, said the Norwegian Lutheran church of America favors the proposition.

Without having set a pole in the company's territory, Moody asserted, the cooperative through objections to company line extensions has materially hindered rural extension in our territory.

Make Appeal

"We appeal to the commission to protect the interests of the people concerned and the lawful rights of our company," Moody asked.

He contended that the company, in electrifying various areas has not taken only the farmers on main roads as customers but also those on side roads. He charged that the cooperative "intends to take only the cream or do exactly what the REA has wrongfully accused our company, along with other utilities, of doing."

Moody asserted that the cooperative intends to duplicate 7 miles of company line and called attention to the provision of the REA act that federal loans shall be made to help bring electric service to persons without such service from central plants.

The commission probably will inform Moody that it is without jurisdiction over cooperatives since they are not public utilities under Wisconsin law.

Rural Legislators Mass to Defeat Measure by Catlin

Bill Would Have Permitted Cities and Villages More Supervisors

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison — That rural Wisconsin has a superior legislative voting strength was demonstrated once more in the state assembly Thursday when the body rejected for the second time a bill by Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Jr. of Appleton which would have given cities a more convenient and less costly method of increasing their representation on county boards of supervisors. The vote was 36 to 34.

Catlin's bill would have allowed cities to elect supervisors from precincts instead of wards, as the law now requires, thus eliminating the necessity for increasing the number of wards and the number of aldermen in order to have a supervisor representation proportionate to population.

Before killing the Catlin proposal, the assemblymen adopted amendments by R. D. Kelly of Tunnel City and Arthur D. Kelly of St. Croix. The amendments would have allowed incorporated villages to increase their county board representatives at the rate of one for each 500 of population and increased the population requirements for wards in fourth class cities from 500 to 800, or a major fraction of 800.

Amendment

According to Catlin, the adoption of Hall's amendment to change the population requirements for wards in fourth class cities killed his bill, for a number of assemblymen who had previously favored the bill felt that the amendment was a discrimination against fourth class cities in their districts.

Catlin received little aid from other city members on the floor during the fight on the bill, and presented the arguments for the change almost single handed. Vigorous opposition came from the veteran assemblyman Charles Perry, Wauwatosa Republican, who once presided over the lower houses. Perry declared "I am opposed to this bill and all amendments. If any city desires more county board representatives it should create more wards, as the present law allows. There is no reason why Appleton or any other city, if it wants more supervisors, should not get them under the present law."

"These cities do not want more expenses, and more aldermen, but they are willing to place the expense on the county, which they then attempt to justify by saying they represent a majority of the population," Perry suggested that the bill involved a constitutional question, but did not explain except to remark that the state constitution requires a uniform system of county government.

Scots Perry

Perry's remarks angered Catlin who replied that Perry was not justified in interfering in a bill which did not involve his district, but which would benefit many cities in Wisconsin. If Perry would probably have supported it. (Milwaukee county, which includes Wauwatosa, was specifically excepted in the Catlin bill).

But opposition came from other sources. From Assemblyman Laurie Carlson of Bayfield, Paul Fuhrman of Bowler, and Alvin A. Handrich of Menasha. Carlson compared the bill with the current supreme court controversy, saying that the Catlin measure represented an attempt on the part of cities to "pack" the county boards.

Catlin said his bill has a direct interest for the cities of Appleton, Green Bay, Marinette, Manitowish, Sheboygan, Wausau, Stevens Point, Eau Claire, all of which have fewer county board representatives than they should have on the basis of population.

Budlog Supports

Toward the end of the debate assistance came from Assemblyman Charles A. Budlog of Marinette, who declared that his city is interested in getting more supervisors without creating more wards. "Marinette cannot afford to create five more wards, and pay the salaries of 10 new aldermen in order to get its proper number of votes on the county board."

The motion for indefinite postponement of the bill from Assemblyman Fuhrman. The roll call follows:

For the bill: Budlog, Catlin, Engstrom, Fitzsimmons, Grass, Grassman, Grobshmidt, Grosvenor, E. D. Hall, M. H. Hall, Harvey, Hipke, Huplauf, Kostuck, Kroenke, Larson, Lingelbach, Ludvigsen, Ly-

Pump 440,000 Gallons of Sludge at Sewage Plant

A total of 440,000 gallons of raw sludge were pumped into the digester tank at the sewage disposal plant from the time the plant was put into operation on Jan. 12 until March 1, according to C. O. Baetz, superintendent. It is expected that the drying beds will be put to use some time in June.

In the digesting process during the same period 525,000 cubic feet of gas were recorded. Most of this gas is now being utilized and its burning furnishes heat for keeping the digester tank at a constant temperature.

During February 463 cubic feet of grit were taken from the grit chamber. The highest amount recorded in any one day was 48 cubic feet. L. F. Warick, C. A. Harper, Adolph Kanneberg and E. J. Coyne of the state board of health paid an inspection visit to the plant and expressed satisfaction with the conditions found and with the operation of the plant.

Cancel Lions Meeting Because of Olympics

Because of the inter-club olympics Monday night at the Y. M. C. A., the Lions club will not hold its luncheon meeting Monday. The team will compete against Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and the junior chamber of commerce.

The local club has been invited to the round table discussion session at Manitowish Tuesday night April 6 at which Melvin Jones, secretary-general of Lions international, and Frank V. Birch, first vice president of international, will discuss club activities. The fifteenth anniversary of the Manitowish club will be observed at 7:30 that evening at the Elks club.

Frans Larson is chairman of the program committee for April and May with Harry Hoeffel as assistant.

List Changes in Buoys on Waters In This Region

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)

Washington—The department of commerce has just announced a series of changes in names and numbers of buoys, discontinuance of some and establishment of new buoyage in Green Bay, Fox River and Lake Winnebago. Changes will be made at the opening of navigation this spring.

In Green Bay, eight buoys formerly designated as either East or West Bank buoys will be termed Green Bay buoys, and the numbers changed. Green Bay lighted bell buoy 35 will be established on the west bank of the channel, replacing Green Bay buoy 31, and Green Bay lighted buoy 44 will be established on the west bank of the channel in the former location of Green Bay buoy 34.

In the Fox River, Green Bay city buoys 4 and 1 will be discontinued and numbers of 12 Green Bay buoys will be changed.

List Changes

Changes to be made from DePere to Lake Winnebago are as follows: Names of Fox River buoys 2, 4, and 6 will be changed to Wrights-town buoys with the same numbers. Fox River buoy 8 hereafter will be designated as Rapid-Croche buoy 8. Kaukauna lower City buoy 10 will be established approximately 2,500 feet below fifth lock. Three Fox River buoys will be established at a location abreast Fox Farm below Appleton.

A new buoy will be established about 800 feet above Grignon Rapids buoy 33, and another about 1,100 feet above Grignon Rapids buoy 35. Eleven Menasha channel buoys will be renumbered, as will four in Neenah channel, one on Oshkosh reef and two in Fond du Lac channel.

On the upper Fox River, nine buoys heretofore designated as Appleton buoys will be termed Upper Fox River buoys.

Goose Island channel buoy 3 will be discontinued, while red barrel channel buoys and one black barrel buoy will be established there.

100 Service Club Members to Play In Olympic Games

Annual Affair Will be Held Monday at Y. M. C. A.

More than 100 members of four Appleton service organizations will compete in the annual inter-club olympics Monday afternoon and evening at the Y. M. C. A. The Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs and the junior chamber of commerce will be represented. Competition will start at 5:15 in the afternoon with a rest period at 6:30 for a family dinner. The second half of the meet will start at 7:30.

One member from each organization will start play in the billiard tournament at 5:15. Twenty-five points in straight billiards will decide the winner. Similar rules will hold for the pool tournament.

In the ping pong meet, preliminary matches will pit the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs with the Kiwanians then playing the chamber of commerce. The winners will play for the championship and the losers for third place in the finals.

Dart Baseball Games
Four men will compose each team in the dart baseball contest which will be limited to five innings. The Rotary and Jaces will clash in one preliminary with the Lions meeting the Kiwanians in the other.

The handball singles matches will be decided on a two out of three basis with each game going to 11 points. Rotary and Kiwanis clubs will meet in one preliminary with the Lions club then meeting the Jaces. In the finals, championship and third place awards will be fought for.

In action bridge, each team will play 12 hands, four against each pair of opponents. Teams making the highest total score in the 12 hands will win. No rubbers will be played. The starting position at 7:30 will find the Rotary club versus Lions and Kiwanis opposing the junior chamber of commerce. Positions will be reversed for the second and third games.

15 Boards in Contract
Fifteen boards will be played in the contract bridge tournament with five boards at each set of tables. Play will be governed by the match point system. Starting positions: (N. S.) versus Kiwanis, (E. W.) Rotary, (N. S.) versus junior chamber of commerce.

Winners of the bowling tournament will be selected on a total pin basis for three games. In the tug-of-war contest, the Rotary and Lions clubs will meet in one preliminary with the Kiwanis and Jaces in the other.

The handball doubles will match the Rotary club and commerce group in the preliminary with Lions and Kiwanis clubs in the other. Three basketball matches between the Lions and Rotary, clubs and the junior chamber of commerce will be played at 8:30, 9 o'clock and 9:30 that night.

Ask Coinage of New 50-Cent Coin

Would Commemorate Anniversary of American-Grown Tobacco Abroad

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington — Congress has been asked to authorize coinage of special 50-cent pieces to commemorate the three hundred and fiftieth anniversary of American-grown tobacco into England and the three hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary of its culture by Anglo-Saxons.

In a bill introduced by Representative Burch of Virginia, Sir Walter Raleigh is given credit for tobacco's introduction into England and John Rolfe, husband of the Indian princess, Pocahontas, for having planted the first acres in Virginia in 1612.

Representative Burch asks for not more than fifty thousand of these special commemorative coins, and would leave the design up to the proper government officials.

The coins would bear the date 1937, regardless of the year in which they were issued, and would be issued only upon the request of the Finance Committee in the third annual Tobacco Festival, South Boston, Virginia, affiliated with the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce.

Continue Vocational Night School Classes

Although vocational school classes will be dismissed for spring vacation today, night school classes will continue next week. Students will meet at regular times for courses in the theory of mechanics, advanced electrical theory, refrigeration and welding. The journeyman's plumbing class will not meet, however. Regular classes will be resumed Monday morning March 29.

9E Room Leads Wilson Attendance Contest

Students of the 9E home room at Wilson Junior High school are leading in the attendance contest for four weeks with a mark of 99.3 per cent. Each week, the home room possessing the best average receives a trophy which must be passed on to the next week's winner. The 7B students are in second place with 98.95 per cent; 9B, 97.41 per cent; 7C, 97.25 per cent; 8A, 95.14 per cent; 9D, 87.12 per cent.

Good Field for Young Lawyers In Federal Work

Many High-Powered Legal Representatives Quit To Get More Pay

(Post-Crescent Washington Bureau)
Washington — Wisconsin young lawyers may find a golden opportunity to put their knowledge to practice for the government if the department of justice continues to lose its high-powered legal representatives because they can earn more money in private practice.

In hearings on the annual appropriations for that department, Assistant Attorney General Brian McMahon of the criminal division told the appropriations committee that lawyers often leave the government service after their work there has made them eligible for large fees in private practice.

Budding young lawyers who want jobs in the Department of Justice must have ability beyond that required in crime cases, McMahon said.

Just because many of them have criminal cases in their own home town, he said, they think they are qualified to handle the highly specialized work of the department of Justice.

Demand is Great
Not only is the demand for lawyers great, he told the committee, because some of the more experienced men have left for private practice, but also because there is an increasing demand on the part of district attorneys to rely on Department of Justice lawyers.

McMahon said he attributes the growing demand to the fact that the number of criminal laws under federal jurisdiction has increased and that there are more criminal cases. The burden on district attorneys today is twice what it was ten years ago, he stated.

During the past year he testified, the department of justice has continued its policy of training young lawyers. Six young men who showed decided promise, two of whom were former G-men, are being worked up by McMahon and other assistant attorneys general. Usually the young lawyers are sent out on cases with older more experienced men.

Trained Staff
"The result will be that in a couple of years," he said, "I will have a trained staff of young lawyers who can, as they develop, take the more important cases themselves."

McMahon said it is impossible to send a man to the district attorney simply because he is loaded down with cases. Only when the case demands a special assistant is one of the Department of Justice lawyers put to work on it.

The department is glad to participate in such cases, he said, because officials believe the closer the cooperation of the Department, the better it is going to be for law enforcement in general.

Dickinson and McGuire In Ping Pong Finals

Lane Dickinson and Leland McGuire will clash in the finals of the Roosevelt Junior High school seventh grade ping pong tournament at the school after spring vacation. Dickinson advanced to the finals by defeating Warren Bussing while McGuire won over John Mielke. Quarter-final matches in the ninth grade ping pong tournament also will be played after vacation.

In the Ninth grade volleyball league the faculty team still remains in first place with four straight wins. The 9V and 9X aggregations have won three out of four games while the team has split even in two games. The 9V and 9Z teams each have won one game in three starts while the 9W group has lost six consecutive games.

High School Choir to Sing at Convocation

Liberty of People and Future of Republic in Hands of Supreme Court

The address delivered by Senator Bailey of North Carolina, one of the leading Democratic statesmen of the country, denouncing the President's plan to reorganize the judiciary has received wide comment because in a few hundred words it puts very plainly the position of the people of the country, their government, and their constitution. Said Senator Bailey:

"The Supreme Court of the United States is not the creature of congress. It was brought forth by the people. It is their institution. It is not the creature of a moment. It has been in continuous existence nearly 150 years. We see it today embodied in nine learned and venerable men, but the court consists of all who have ministered in its temple, the dead as well as the living. Its voice is the voice of past and present. Its function is truth and righteousness, the ancient word for justice. It does not rule. It merely affirms the will of the people in the instrument which they have adopted to preserve their rights over against all powers of the government. It does not veto acts of the congress. It declares only when those acts transgress the limits set upon the powers of the congress by the people in their constitution. This and no more. It does not pass on the wisdom of legislation. It does not determine economic questions.

No Dictator Here
"The Constitution is no device to block the people's progress. It is the device of the people to preserve themselves as their states, their local self-government, their individual rights, their homes, and the future of their children. The people made it, and only they can change it—and only in the way they provided. Let others denounce it, let others criticize it; the people will preserve it as the charter of their liberties, their rights, their votes, their democracy, their place in the life of their Republic. It stands between them and the possibility of a dictator. They require every public officer to take solemn oath to maintain and support it. They give no man power save upon this oath. "Sometimes we forget, sometimes impatience overcomes our better judgment. But at last we remember. Down in our hearts we know that so long as the Constitution stands the Republic will stand; so long as the constitution stands our rights are secure, our homes our own, and none may make us afraid. It restrains the overreaching hand of power. It stops the army on the threshold of the cabin. It asserts the dignity of man, his place in the earth, and the freedom of his soul. "Congress is mighty, but the Constitution is mightier. Presidents are powerful, but the Constitution is more powerful. Courts are great, but the Constitution is greater. Laws are strong, but the Constitution is stronger. And it is so because the Constitution is the expressed will of all the people, the supreme law of the land, to be altered only by themselves, and therefore the living soul of democracy. "The Court and the Constitution, they stand or fall together. The Constitution creates the Court, and the Court declares and maintains the Constitution. To weaken one is to weaken the other. To destroy one is to destroy the other. To weaken either is to weaken the foundations of our Republic; to destroy either is to destroy the Republic."

No Earthly Power
"It has no earthly power. Congress has the purse; the President is Commander-in-Chief of the Army, and Navy and the Executive of the Republic. The Supreme Court has neither purse nor sword. It cannot even defer to preserve its rights. Its decrees prevail only by reason, the spiritual appeal of justice in the human heart. "Beautiful to behold is the fact that now for 150 years without other aid, such has been the capacity of the American people to justice, such their native feeling for its processes, that in all seasons and events, in war and peace, in poverty and prosperity, in the day of small things and the day of great things, whether agreeing or disagreeing, they have exalted this court; they have kept it above politics; they have protected it against all who would tear it down; they have upheld it against all who would bring it low; they have accepted its decisions as the ultimate determination of controversies, civil or criminal, in high or low estate, in life and in death.

Never Failed People

"On the other hand, it has never failed them. It has stood between them and all who would impair their rights. It has succored rich and poor with equal hand. It has vindicated freedom of speech and of the press. The humble ex-slave has found refuge in its precincts against the power of mighty states; and states have found by means of its rightful place in the Union guarded the rights of the people. It has preserved the rights of the states; it has maintained the rights and the powers of the Union; and all without purse, without patronage, without propaganda, without force; but not without power—not without the power in it and in ourselves which makes for righteousness. Our forefathers brought it forth; our fathers have preserved it for us; and we now will maintain it for ourselves, our children, and our children's children. "And what is this Constitution of the United States? "It is the charter of the national existence and stability; and it is more. It is the charter of the powers given to the Republic, of the powers reserved to the states, of the inalienable rights in the people. It is their instrument. They made it. They made it not just to constitute a government, but also to preserve their rights—the blessings of liberty to ourselves and to our posterity. They knew that any sufficient government would become stronger than any one of themselves. They created a government and gave it power—so much and no more—and they asserted rights in states which they could control; rights in themselves singly and as a whole which none could violate. They set up a court to declare the metes and bounds of the power; they were vesting, and made it independent to define, to declare, and to affirm the powers they were holding to themselves or to their states.

Musical Program Features Wilson School Assembly

A musical program was presented by the Wilson Junior High school orchestra as a feature of the regular student assembly program yesterday. Jay L. Williams is in charge of the organization but Miss Ruby Voeks directed the group Friday.

The program opened with the orchestra playing "Monitor March" by Grant Wellesley and "Moonlight Beach" by J. S. Zamecnik. Cleveland Ginnow and Ellen Mae Arnold then played a duet with Ha Sueck as accompanist. After the orchestra played "Pizzicato Caprice" by Earl Guy and "Prairie Trail" by J. S. Zamecnik, Franklin Peitsky was featured in a solo with Jay L. Williams, accompanist. "Honor Guard" by J. S. Zamecnik was played by the orchestra as the concluding number. John Zohl, Gerald Behl, Virginia Dorman and Virginia Rhodes, fifth grade beginning music pupils, also were featured in the program.

Police Request Proof Of License Application

A request that motorists who have not yet obtained 1937 license plates be prepared to submit proof of application when stopped by traffic officers was made today by Captain Charles Seidl of the county motorcycle police. Money orders should be posted on the windshield if possible, but will be accepted if carried on the person of the driver, Seidl said.

Pupils Have Exhibit Of Charcoal Drawings

An exhibit of figure drawings and sketches done in pencil and charcoal has been prepared at Roosevelt Junior High school under the direction of Cuthbert Ryan, art instructor. Students served as models for the various drawings. Art students recently completed 200 Easter cards which were sent to patients in the various veterans' hospitals in the state.

Motion Pictures to Be Shown at Safety Session in Kimberly

Motion pictures will be one of the features of the March meeting of the Outagamie County Street and Highway Safety council at the Kimberly clubhouse, Kimberly, Monday evening. Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan will be the principal speaker. Sergeant Carl Radtke, head of the Appleton police department's traffic squad, will give a talk addressed particularly to students who are expected to swell attendance at the session. F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner, add chairman of the council, will preside. The April meeting of the safety council will be held at Hortonville.

Seek $5,000 for Sheboygan Woman

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)
Madison — Compensation of $5,000 to Mrs. Oscar Schrader of Sheboygan, whose husband died as the result of an assault by guards at the Winnebago State hospital, is asked in a bill introduced in the legislature this week by the committee on state affairs of the assembly. The bill provides for the appropriation to compensate Mrs. Schrader for the death of her husband, which was caused by his being assaulted and beaten by guards at the Winnebago state hospital, where he was an inmate. Sixty dollars a month would be paid to Mrs. Schrader for her support and the support of a minor child for the first year, and fifty dollars a month thereafter until the $5,000 is exhausted. According to the terms of the bill no part of the appropriation may be used for attorney's fees, and if the money is used for any other purposes besides support of herself and her child, or if she remarries, the payments will be cut off.

May Ask Mayor to Call Special Council Meet

Mayor Goodland may be asked by the relief committee to hold a joint meeting with representatives of the Appleton Medical society to discuss the latter's proposal to create an office of full time health commissioner and part time city physician. A meeting of the committee and representatives of the medical society was held last week on the proposal which had been referred to the committee by the council recently.

Municipal Utility Bills Up Tuesday In State Senate

Legislature Plans Easter Recess From Wednesday to March 30

Madison—(P)—Wisconsin's lawmakers, looking forward to an Easter respite from their tasks, placed only one set of controversial measures on the calendar for next week.

The legislature will recess at noon next Wednesday until Tuesday, March 30.

Four municipal utility bills by Senator Kenneth White, (R), River Falls, will come before the senate next Tuesday. The principal measure permits free competition of municipalities with private utilities, removing the requirement of public service commission approval of rival municipal power plants. The assembly has passed a similar bill.

Consider Deadline

Among other matters to be decided during the coming week is the question of a deadline in introduction of bills except by the joint finance committee. The assembly voted for an April 1 deadline; the senate favored an April 1 limit, and so amended the assembly resolution which was sent back to that house.

The legislature already has set itself a deadline of March 20. Two Milwaukeeans are the champion introducers, John Grohmschmidt, (P), in the assembly with 27, Allan Busby, (P), in the senate with 18. Senators who sought early action on the Severn labor disputes bill, target of some 40 amendments, yielded yesterday to opposition requests and agreed to place it on the calendar for March 31.

High Spots of Sessions This Week are the five-hour hearing on the labor dispute bill in the senate and the assembly, St. Patrick's day musicale, Senate freshmen belatedly offered a plan the following day to establish a department of Gaelic and Irish history and literature at the university.

Two University Bills

Two bills affecting the university regents advanced through various stages. The senate voted itself power of passing on appointments of regents. The assembly killed and then revived a measure denying the university president a vote on the regent board.

The Cashman driver's license bill designed to put teeth into regulation of automobile drivers, received senate approval. The assembly completed legislative action on extension of the 25 per cent surtax on gifts and property transfers for relief purposes.

While the senate postponed action on many questions until after the Easter recess, the assembly methodically advanced the assembly of its bills toward a final vote including the Fritz bill requiring automobile manufacturers to furnish safety kits with all cars, which was revived after an adverse vote.

DEATHS

LEONARD BOYER

Leonard Alvin Boyer, 61, route 5, Kaukauna, died at 6:15, this morning at Appleton after a several months illness. He was born in Stockholm, and was employed at the Combined-Locks Paper mill for about 20 years. He also was a member of the Combined Locks Pulp and Stalpite Workers union.

Survivors include the widow, four stepdaughters, Mrs. William Gentry, Oshkosh; Mrs. Arthur VanBoven, Fremont; Mrs. Joseph Guschewich, Combined Locks; Mrs. Hugo Koenke, route 5, Kaukauna; two sons, Theodore and George De Koch, Little Chute; three brothers, Emory and William, Virginia, Minn., and Bernard, St. Paul; one sister, Miss Mabel Boyer, St. Paul.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed and the body will be brought today to the Fargo funeral home.

WILLIAM DAY

William Day, 52, died at 6:15 this morning at his home in the village of Stephenville. He was born Feb. 4, 1885, in Dodge county. His home was formerly on a farm east of Stephenville, but he had lived in the village for the last 12 years. His wife died five years ago.

Surviving him are four daughters, Miss Eleanor Day, Pockwaukee; Mrs. Joseph Komp, Liberty; Mrs. William Warner, Seymour; and Mrs. Bert Wittlin, Ellington; five sons, Mr. Marj Kell, Little Chute; Mr. D. J. Cels, Decker; Waukegan; Mrs. Emma Newcomb and Miss Anne Day, Appleton; two brothers, Edward Day, Brainerd, Minn., and John Day, Seattle, Wash.; three grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will take place at 9:30 Monday morning at St. Patrick church, Stephenville, with the Rev. Raymond Schauer in charge. Burial will be in the parish cemetery.

MRS. JOHN BRUM

Mrs. John Brum, 78, died at 12:45 this afternoon at her home, 724 E. Calumet street, after a 2-months illness. She was born April 28, 1858, in Bavaria, Germany.

Survivors include the widow, four daughters, Mrs. John McCarey, Milwaukee; Mrs. Fred Kramusch, Marenisco, Minn.; Mrs. Art Herwig and Mrs. Carl Foss, Appleton; two sons, Joseph and John Kagerbauer, Blackwell; two brothers and two sisters.

Arrangements for the funeral have not been completed.

Deputy Health Officer Changes Office Hours

Because of duties at the sewage disposal plant, the morning, Claude Greisch, deputy health officer, has announced a change in his office hours at the city hall. Under the new schedule his office is open daily from 10 to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 1:15 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The remainder of the afternoon is spent in inspection work.

CHOSEN AS SPEAKER

Young People's Council Plans Sunrise Service

Dr. Gilbert S. Cox, pastor of First Methodist Episcopal church, will be the speaker at the annual inter-denominational Easter morning sunrise service at 8:30 Sunday morning, March 28, at Trinity Lutheran church. The service is sponsored by the city-wide young people's council of the Y. M. C. A. The public has been invited.

The committee in charge of arrangements includes Helen Derrman, First Methodist; Episcopal church; Ramona Roeth, Trinity English Lutheran church; Edward Delaw, First Baptist church; Elwood Krueger, First Congregational church; Vincent Dutcher, Memorial Presbyterian church; Howard Polzin, Emmanuel Evangelical church.

Edwin Murnigh will present a violin solo and Doris Ryap a vocal solo during the hour service. Offerings received will be used to send church delegates to the state young people's conference in summer. The committee will meet Sunday afternoon to consider final plans for the ceremony.

Take New Action On Indian Project

Committee Recommends Settlements be Concentrated in North Oneida

A resolution urging federal authorities to concentrate their Indian farm settlement plan in the northern part of the town of Oneida was passed by the county board's special Indian affairs committee at a conference with town of Oneida officials this morning.

The government proposes to purchase lands in Oneida and divide them into 20-acre tracts for Indian use. Options now are held in some sections.

At a recent meeting with federal men, an agreement was reached whereby the sections in which options now are held would be filled out if present owners would sell out subsequent purchases would be in sections recommended by town officials. Town officials held, however, that Indians who require a residence should be located so that their residence is on government land and that the northern part of the town offered the best possibilities.

City Receives $18,444 From State Treasurer

Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer, today received a check of $18,444 for street maintenance from the state treasurer. The money is to be used for roads or streets not portions of state or county trunk systems or connecting streets between state trunk highways. The payment is for 222 miles of streets at $200 per mile.

PAYS $10 AND COSTS

A fine of $10 and costs for a charge of reckless driving was paid to municipal court late Friday by Thaddeus J. Litnow, 229 S. Twenty-ninth street, Milwaukee. Litnow was arrested by a county traffic policeman and accused of driving 50 miles an hour in Little Chute.

Military Probe Is Launched in School Disaster

the surrounding oil company prepared to bury its dead.

Only three bodies—all young girls—lay unclaimed in a Henderson mortuary.

Yesterday as many as 75 unidentified had been laid in rows in improvised morgues at one time. The state department of public safety aided in the difficult task of identification by sending a fingerprint expert here.

Funerals Today

New London and surrounding oil communities declared a holiday for the funerals set today.

Venues from the radiators in the building, used as independent units "simply end in the walls," said Dr. Schoch.

His contention, based on his reported finding of intact radiators "without proper flues" in the ruins, placed him in disagreement with another called as a witness today at an inquiry of military authorities.

"It is my opinion that the explosion was caused by gas accumulating beneath the building," asserted E. M. Roberts, electrician on construction of the building.

"I don't think there was any defect in connection with the gas radiators which would allow such an explosion.

The radiators, one to a room, were individually fired with gas, heat radiation being by means of a contrivance similar to the radiator of a central steam heating plant, but not supplied with steam from outside.

Gas in Building

Dr. Schoch said, after a preliminary investigation last night, there was no doubt: gas had been in the building, and that the blast came either from the basement or from the walls. He called the cells of tile "excellent gas chambers."

"It's simple," he went on. "The walls were filled with gas that had no other exit.

"The condition of the bodies of those children bears that out. They were blown to death—not burned to death."

The blast left only half a dozen of the 72 radiators in the building intact with their wall connections. Dr. Schoch inspected each and said he found only one with a satisfactory flue.

To supplement the inquiry of the university chemist, the bureau of oils and chemistry in Washington sent David J. Price, another expert on explosions, to the scene. D. J. Parker, United States Bureau of Mines engineer, was dispatched from Salt Lake City.

Major Howard said martial law declared soon after the blast, would not be lifted until the court of inquiry completed its findings. Military rule is needed to retain authority of the court.

Brought in By Boom

Comparatively few of the victims were children of families with long-time ties here. The oil boom of 1920-31 which developed this community and the school plant as well, called them here from all parts of the nation.

Grieving kin prepared burial places near the derricked slopes of the world's largest oil belt for many of the pupils and teachers killed when the terrific blast ripped the big steel-framed school apart.

Many oil companies assured they were "taking care of employees." Those same companies threw all their trucks, cranes and men into the vast rescue work, virtually everywhere.

Merle Gruber, chamber of commerce official at Henderson, said oil-rich Rusk county needed no money to treat the injured and bury the dead but each donation will go to a worthy cause.

One of the pathetic figures at the Overton American legion hall, a temporary morgue, was a father who was shown piece by piece the torn clothing of a boy victim. Finally he was handed a pair of worn shoes.

"That's my boy," he gasped. "I soled the shoes myself."

Saved 95 Pupils

Mrs. Odell Garry, the dark-haired heroine who saved 95 pupils by quick thinking, was reticent in talking about it today. She would say only:

"When the walls and ceiling began to fall in, I told the pupils to get under their desks and I got under mine. Some of them got under my desk with me. There were about 85 in the room."

News of the tragedy brought consoling word from all over the world—messages of sympathy from France, Egypt, Italy, Japan, Mexico, Venezuela, Haiti, Cuba and England. Every state in the Union offered condolences.

Such government officials as Harold L. Ickes, interior secretary, offered every aid within their power.

Red Cross Offers

Captain T. Grayson, chairman of the American Red Cross, placed the full resources of that organization at the call of Governor James V. Allred.

Burial of the dead inserted many a tragic note.

A decrepit truck limped slowly along Dallas streets, a rough pine box protruding from the rear. At the front, almost obliterating the license tag, was a crude sign which read:

"Funeral"

The word was misspelled but Detective Larry Knight and Ed Preston suspected what it meant.

"Where to?" the officers asked "West Texas."

Recount Shows No Change in Vote of 2nd Ward Precinct

No change in the number of ballots cast in the second precinct of the Second ward for aldermanic candidates was found in a recount made by the common council at a special meeting this morning. The recount was asked by Dr. O. N. Johnson who placed third in the race and was given 13 votes in the precinct.

F. John Harriman, incumbent, and Earl Bates, who are the nominees, received 72 and 47 votes, respectively. A total of 124 votes was cast in the precinct with two ballots defective.

Dr. Johnson polled a total of 69 votes in the ward, Harriman 131 and Bates 73.

Honor Dr. Beier for 29 Years of Service

Dr. A. L. Beier, formerly of Appleton, superintendent of the Northern Colony and Training school, Chippewa Falls, observed his twenty-ninth anniversary of service at the colony this week. He first became connected with the colony as resident physician on March 17, 1908. He was appointed superintendent of the institution in 1919. Dr. Beier is the dean of the state institutional superintendents and is one of the few who has had an opportunity of watching a Wisconsin institution grow from an embryo into mature efficiency.

Permits Required for Butchering in City

Requirement of permits for butchering calves and fowl in the city was discussed at a meeting of the board of health with several butchers at the city hall yesterday afternoon. Permits may be obtained from Claude Greisch, deputy health officer. The board of health recently ordered butchers to secure permits for butchering within the city limits.

POSTPONE HEARING

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)

Oshkosh—Hearing on a writ of habeas corpus asked for J. Tennessee, operator of the Barn tavern, town of Menasha, and returnable today in circuit court before Judge Fred E. Beginger was adjourned by mutual consent of Lewis C. Magnusen, district attorney, and the defendant's attorneys, Franklin McDonald, Oshkosh, and Mark Catlin, Appleton, until March 27. Tennessee is charged by Magnusen with the possession of gambling devices.

KILLED IN PLUNGE

Milwaukee—(P)—Constant J. Pire, 76, was killed early today when he fell down a basement stairs at his home.

"Was it . . . the explosion?" "Yeah."

"And . . ."

"I'm taking her home."

"I was in France in the Argonne," Detective Knight said later. "But this, well, this is different."

Quick Search

Two thousand human beavers dug away more than four million pounds of rock and steel in less than 24 hours in the search for the victims.

"It was one of the fastest, most marvelous clearing jobs I've ever seen," said Ross Maddox, general contractor for the building when it was erected four years ago.

Oil field workers—hastily recruited from derricks all over the vast east Texas area—thus carried away about 200,000 pounds an hour, working in shifts of approximately one thousand men. Men worked until completely exhausted.

Change Time of Last Mass Sunday

Change Schedule at St. Joseph's Church Because of Length of Service

The last mass at St. Joseph's church Sunday morning will be said at 12 o'clock instead of 11:30 because of the length of the services in connection with the high mass on Palm Sunday, according to the pastor, the Rev. Cypryan Abler, O. M. Cap. There will be a solemn high mass at 10:15 which will be preceded by the blessing of palms. The distribution of palms to the clergy and the faithful will follow, and there will be a procession in which the officiating clergy, altar boys and the male choir will participate.

The passion of Our Lord according to the gospel of St. Matthew will be read during the mass in the four Catholic churches in Appleton tomorrow. A procession of plans is planned in St. Theresa church in connection with the high mass at 9 o'clock Sunday morning, the clergy and mass servers participating. The last mass will be at 11:30 as usual.

Blessing of the palms will precede the high mass at 10:30 Sunday morning at St. Mary church and the blessed palm will be distributed to the faithful at that mass. There will be no procession at St. Mary church, nor at Sacred heart church where the high mass will be celebrated at 7 o'clock Sunday morning. The blessing of palms will precede this mass.

Oshkosh U. W. Senior Wins Oratory Contest

Madison—(P)—James Doyle, Oshkosh, University of Wisconsin senior class president, won first place in the state peace oratorical contest yesterday. George Holmes, Western Reserve university, Cleveland, took first place in the Delta Sigma Rho oratorical.

Doyle, speaking on "The Clash of Symbols," won in competition with four peace orators. Second award went to Henry W. Nelke, Milwaukee, and third to Louis Toepfer, Beloit college.

More than 200 students of 14 middle western schools and colleges took part in the Delta Sigma Rho speech and discussion contests.

Winners of second and third places in the oratorical were William Brunstead, Carleton college, and Leonard Edelstein, Syracuse.

Calumet County Nurse To Quit Post April 1

Chilton—Miss Florence Hoesly, Calumet county nurse for the last six years, has announced her resignation which will take effect April 1. She has made no plans for the immediate future and will return to her home at Eau Claire.

Miss Hoesly served as nurse for Eau Claire and Oneida counties before coming to Calumet county and also served for three years with the child welfare bureau of the state board of health.

Appointment of a successor to Miss Hoesly is expected to be made next week.

Indianapolis Papers Resume Publication

Indianapolis—(P)—Indianapolis newspapers resumed publication today when union printers voted to return to work after a 24-hour strike which left residents dependent upon outside papers for news yesterday.

The strike ended last night after an all-day meeting of printers, who voted 207 to 18 to return to work and delegated Woodruff Randolph, secretary-treasurer of the International Typographical union, to continue negotiations with the publishers.

The walkout was staged Thursday night with a demand for an increase in wages. The Star, only morning paper, the News and the Evening Herald, all failed to publish yesterday. Publishers declared they would not negotiate with the printers until they returned to work.

Former Wisconsin U Educator Found Dead

Los Angeles—(P)—Sheriff's officers, who investigated at the suggestion of neighbors, yesterday entered the home of George R. Kirkpatrick, 70, former member of the University of Wisconsin faculty, and found him dead, apparently of a heart attack.

Kirkpatrick, an educator and writer, had lectured for the New York city board of education and also had served on the University of Kansas faculty.

His widow, Mrs. Florence Kirkpatrick, an artist, was away at Palm Springs. A son, George P., of New York city, also survives. They had lived here for eight years.

Miss Spring Makes Official Arrival Here This Evening

Snow flurries may greet Miss Spring on her official arrival in Appleton at 6:45 tonight, according to the weatherman who says they are likely for this section of the state. The first day of spring, Sunday, will be generally fair and rather chilly.

The temperature at noon today was 32 degrees. Maximum and minimum temperatures in the last 24 hours preceding 9 o'clock this morning were 37 and 23 degrees at the power plant of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company. The minimum reading was made at 2 o'clock this morning.

Highest and lowest temperatures yesterday were Miami 75; Houston 76; Duluth 18 and Helena 20.

Charge Three Drivers Failed to Get Plates

Three motorists appeared before Municipal Judge Thomas H. Ryan Friday afternoon or this morning on charges of operating a motor vehicle without 1937 registration.

Sylvan Bond, Shiocon, in court this morning, submitted evidence that he now has applied for his new plates and was dismissed on payment of costs. The case against William Faas, 1725 W. Rogers avenue, in court this morning, was adjourned for a week and the defendant released on $50 bond. Similar action was taken in the case against Forest Kitchenmaster, Green Bay, Friday afternoon.

WHEN CHILDREN DIE

"Alas for him who never sees The stars shine through his cypress-trees; Who, hopeless, lays his dead away, Nor looks to see the breaking day Across the mournful marble play; Who hath not learned in hours of faith The Truth of flesh and sense unknown, That Life is ever Lord of death, And Love can never lose its own."

When hundreds of human lives flicker out on the stroke of some appalling crack of doom we rate it an engulfment or catastrophe. But how shall we rate the Texas horror that took the lives of so many children?

The rating is beyond human words. In all the lexicon of suffering there are no syllables that may be joined together and adequately express the grief that hangs like a heavy pall over the Texas community and spreads from there over the nation. Pain is sharp and extreme pain is acute but pain in such quantity is paralyzing.

Those who have lost children will understand. Those who have had children and kept them will understand, too, for they do not care to permit their thoughts to vision the bony hand of Death upon the shoulder of their own.

The first reaction to the frenzy of such a loss is that the parents are without solace or comfort. To them might be cited the article written by a journalist named Kelly in the Garden City Herald on the death of his child killed by an automobile:

"You were such a little tyke. Sonny Boy, to fare forth all alone on the Great Adventure. But you had no doubt whatever that the Far Country is a beautiful place—a place of many mansions, and pleasant shade by cool-flowing rivers on whose banks little boys can play while no one fears they may come to grief; a place of joyous music and triumphant song, of rare fruits and fragrant flowers. You had no doubt of all these things, Sonny Boy, no doubt whatever."

"In an instant you were invested with eternal youth. We who stay behind grow old, and the years may come when we shall say, 'I have no pleasure in them.' But to us you will always be the little boy filled with joy at the newborn day. Always with us will be the memory of your love for the fragrance of blooming spirea which you visioned as banks of power of your translation of the mocking bird's song into language of ment; of the imagery of speech that gave us the fond hope that one day you would be a poet and writer who would give glory to the family name. Now it is one of the things that can never be. But there is a recompense: through the weeks and months and years you will always be to us the same little boy, eternally young in an eternal June."

"You were laid to rest, Sonny Boy, under heaped and heaped of the flowers you loved. As the fragrant coverlet was spread over you a mocking bird sang his farewell song from a nearby treetop and that evening the new moon—a tiny sickle of a new moon—peeped from behind a curtain of clouds to see that all was well with you and that young King kept watch over you through the night with his many flashlights, and his drums were rolling as his marshaled clouds freshened your coverlet of flowers. So goodbye, Sonny Boy, for a little while with the wish that we may meet again where every morning has the gladness of a June morn'g. And when in the evening I tell the other little folks as we circle the fireplace the story of 'The Little Red Hen' or of 'The Very Ducky' or of 'The Little Boy Who Went to Sea' I shall think of you as being somewhere there in the shadows cast by the flickering twilight lamping too."

Thus there is solace though the grief seem overwhelming. But is there not but one solace, the solace of which Victor Hugo wrote so well:

"When I go down to the grave, I shall have ended my day's work but another day will begin next morn'g. Life closes in the twilight, and it opens with the dawn."

The death of children tears our breasts with its seeming injustice. The crowning glory of civilization is the willingness of adults to give way for their young and their constant efforts to protect the next generation in its rights, to see that the youngsters coming along have their fair fling at life, an average number of years in which to work and live and pray and strive.

MUSSOLINI AND A LADY'S DIARY

"Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned" Had another public example of its force when a French woman shot the Count de Chambrun because, as it turns out, he betrayed her confidence, and her confidence was that she and Mussolini were just too good friends for words. Whatever possesses a woman to keep a diary anyway? Whatever it is possessed this woman. The diary may now be fair food for the public, but not the public in Italy.

The beauty about Mussolini's position is that it embraces the first rule of all such men—control the press. If Duce may care little what is published elsewhere. He rarely travels abroad anyway.

The episode, however, will only fortify dictators in their determination. They will point to the nations where such intimate details may be printed as wallowing in the salacious. At that they will not be wholly lacking in argument and it will be just as well to remember that a great many diaries have actually been written by women setting forth the minutest details of conduct afterwards admitted to be wholly the fairies of their own imagination.

TREASURE TROVE

Explorers from the University of Chicago searching for evidences of bygone civilization came across a treasure concealed about 14 centuries before the birth of Christ and consisting of that article for which men have seemingly always worked and struggled, fought and planned—gold.

From attendant circumstances the discoverers report that the treasure must have been hidden by a Prince of Megiddo—whatever he may have been—when threatened in his stronghold by marching hosts.

The episode is one concerning which men just as invariably loosen their imaginations in the attempt to picture the circumstances that made it necessary or advisable to conceal the treasure, the hurried arrival of a messenger with warning, the hectic runnings to and fro, the frantic planning against time, the capture and the always consequent torture to which the unfortunates were subjected in the effort to make them disclose the places selected to conceal their belongings.

In this case one may wonder whether the attackers were successful and perhaps conclude that the defenders were wiped out in battle or carried off in bondage else they would not have left this treasure for generations so long in the future to find.

The earth is probably stocked with such treasures just as the bottom of the seas is dotted with broken ships that have crashed in heavy storms or sunk under the batterings of vicious enemies.

Gold has always been a standard of value. But in days gone by its safety was even more precarious than now since necessity compelled men to look out for their own fortunes before banking systems were created or governments were so instituted as to own or take over or at least handle the combined gold holdings of their people.

During all the centuries armies have marched and attacked. And men have hidden their treasures before manning the fortifications. Since the earth provided the safest concealment it has no doubt received almost all of this treasure, but when direction to the hastily selected hiding places was lost or the lips of those who knew the way silenced the earth merely held its treasure, quietly and peacefully until men came again by accident or design and stumbled across it.

SENATOR DUFFY ON THE COURTS

Senator Duffy says he is in sympathy with the President's court plan but will not commit himself until the final draft is submitted.

What does he mean by sympathy? Is it the sympathy all should have for every man who gets himself into a hole? Will not the senator have a little sympathy for the American people, their institutions, and the generations yet to come?

But the senator in an indirect way gave a candid and uncolored opinion of the President's plan when he announced his purpose to introduce an amendment to the constitution forbidding a repetition of the procedure, preventing any future president or congress from increasing the number of judges on the supreme bench.

It will be poor ointment to the senator's conscience if he votes to pack the court and thinks he may be absolved from the offense by trying to prevent a repetition of the erroneous procedure.

It all sounds like a young man who was arrested in Chicago awhile ago charged with a bold offense. He said it was his first. And he declared he had resolved that he would do it just that once, and never again. Never again!

Never again is an alibi as old as the granite hills. It is the meaningless excuse mumbled by every wrongdoer from the White House to the unpainted hovels. It is a phrase of weakness and avoidance watered by crocodile tears and written on the shifting sands of political sidestepping.

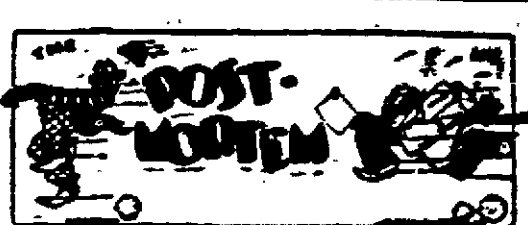

May not the people at least be spared these well soiled alibis?

Opinions Of Others

INDEPENDENCE THREATENED In Congressmen Carl E. Mapes is correct in his estimate of the plan to place such quasi-judicial bodies as the Interstate Commerce commission under cabinet officers, it is impossible not to share his alarm.

These regulatory commissions, appointed for long, rotable terms and responsible only to congress, were made so, as Congressman Mapes says, for a reason. The discretionary powers delegated to them were deemed to bear too intimately on the welfare of the individual citizen to be entrusted to a political administration.

The Interstate Commerce commission, through its control of freight rates, for example, holds the economic fate of whole cities or whole economic areas in the hollow of its hand.

FROM THE BARD OF PUMPKIN CENTER

We can have the spring-time freshets That wash the gulleys clear We can have the mellow sun-shine Melting snows of yester-year We can have the change of seasons But I'm waiting for to hear The croaking of that bull-frog Then I know that spring is here.

Oh: The pussy willows swelling And sap drip-drops in the-pail And I hear a tall-tale whistle Sounding mighty like a quail And there's little green tips pressing Through the hillside's brown and sear But I listen for that bull-frog Then I'll know that spring is here.

THERE MUST BE 1,337,905 MARGES AROUND HERE

Jonah: In case you want to know, the "Marge" that Mrs. G. W. wrote a poem about works in a drug store at Neenah. Whether 'tis the Marge that is dying for a break from Kutz has not been ascertained. It is known that she is closely associated with a Roy at Kaukauna.

Ed. Note: The "Marge" letters emanate from Appleton.

Why haven't I written for so long? Well, every time I get an idea I jot it down on my cuff and intend to write it after the day's work. I open up the paper that afternoon and Peggie has beaten me to it.

(Ed. Note: Peggie should be ashamed of himself.)

The proposal to revise the supreme court of the United States smells faintly like the ouster of Dr. Frank. Or had you forgotten about that? President Roosevelt did not say he wouldn't run in 1941. He said he had some kind of an ambition to turn over a government to his predecessor free from this and that. What will he do if his ambition is not fulfilled at that time? He'll take more time to fulfill it.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

HIS "LIKES"

He calls them "likes," those friends of his. When friendship's bond is deep. There is no word for friends like his. Whose love he longs to keep.

A little deeper than a "like." A shade less than a "love." An honest meaning he must strike His loyalty to prove.

His heart is clear as morning sun: His soul holds no dark hall: His friends have a high place, each one; He cherishes them all.

But on the peaks of his fine mind He sets his "likes" to bless His inner life. . . . They are designed For his true happiness! (Copyright, 1937)

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, March 19, 1927

The first application this year for bounty on a wolf was made Thursday at the office of John E. Hantschel, county clerk. Winfred H. Schmidt, Seymour, filled out the application blank, which was forwarded to Madison. He shot the wolf Thursday morning while hunting in the town of Osborn.

Beethoven's centenary concert will be presented by Lawrence Conservatory of Music at 8:15 Tuesday evening at Peabody hall in honor of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of Ludwig Beethoven, famous German composer. The conservatory orchestra directed by Prof. Percy Fullinwider. Miss Caroline Hess, contralto. Prof. James L. Mursell, pianist, and Wenzel Albrecht, violinist, will appear on the program.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Van Vorst, Darboy, are expected back this week from a three months tour through the south and west.

New London High school will hold a forensic contest in the auditorium Friday, March 25. Winners in the preliminary contest were Dorothy Bentz, Elizabeth Garot, Mildred Saker, Leona Gorges, Jean Dessel and Mary Meinhardt.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, March 23, 1912

With the initiation of six new members the membership of the Appleton Elk lodge reached the 300 mark the previous evening. Plans for the new clubhouse were discussed.

Forty field secretaries of the Wisconsin State Fire Prevention association will meet in Appleton next Tuesday at Hotel Ritter. State Superintendent of Schools C. P. Cary will speak at the closing banquet at Commercial hotel in the evening.

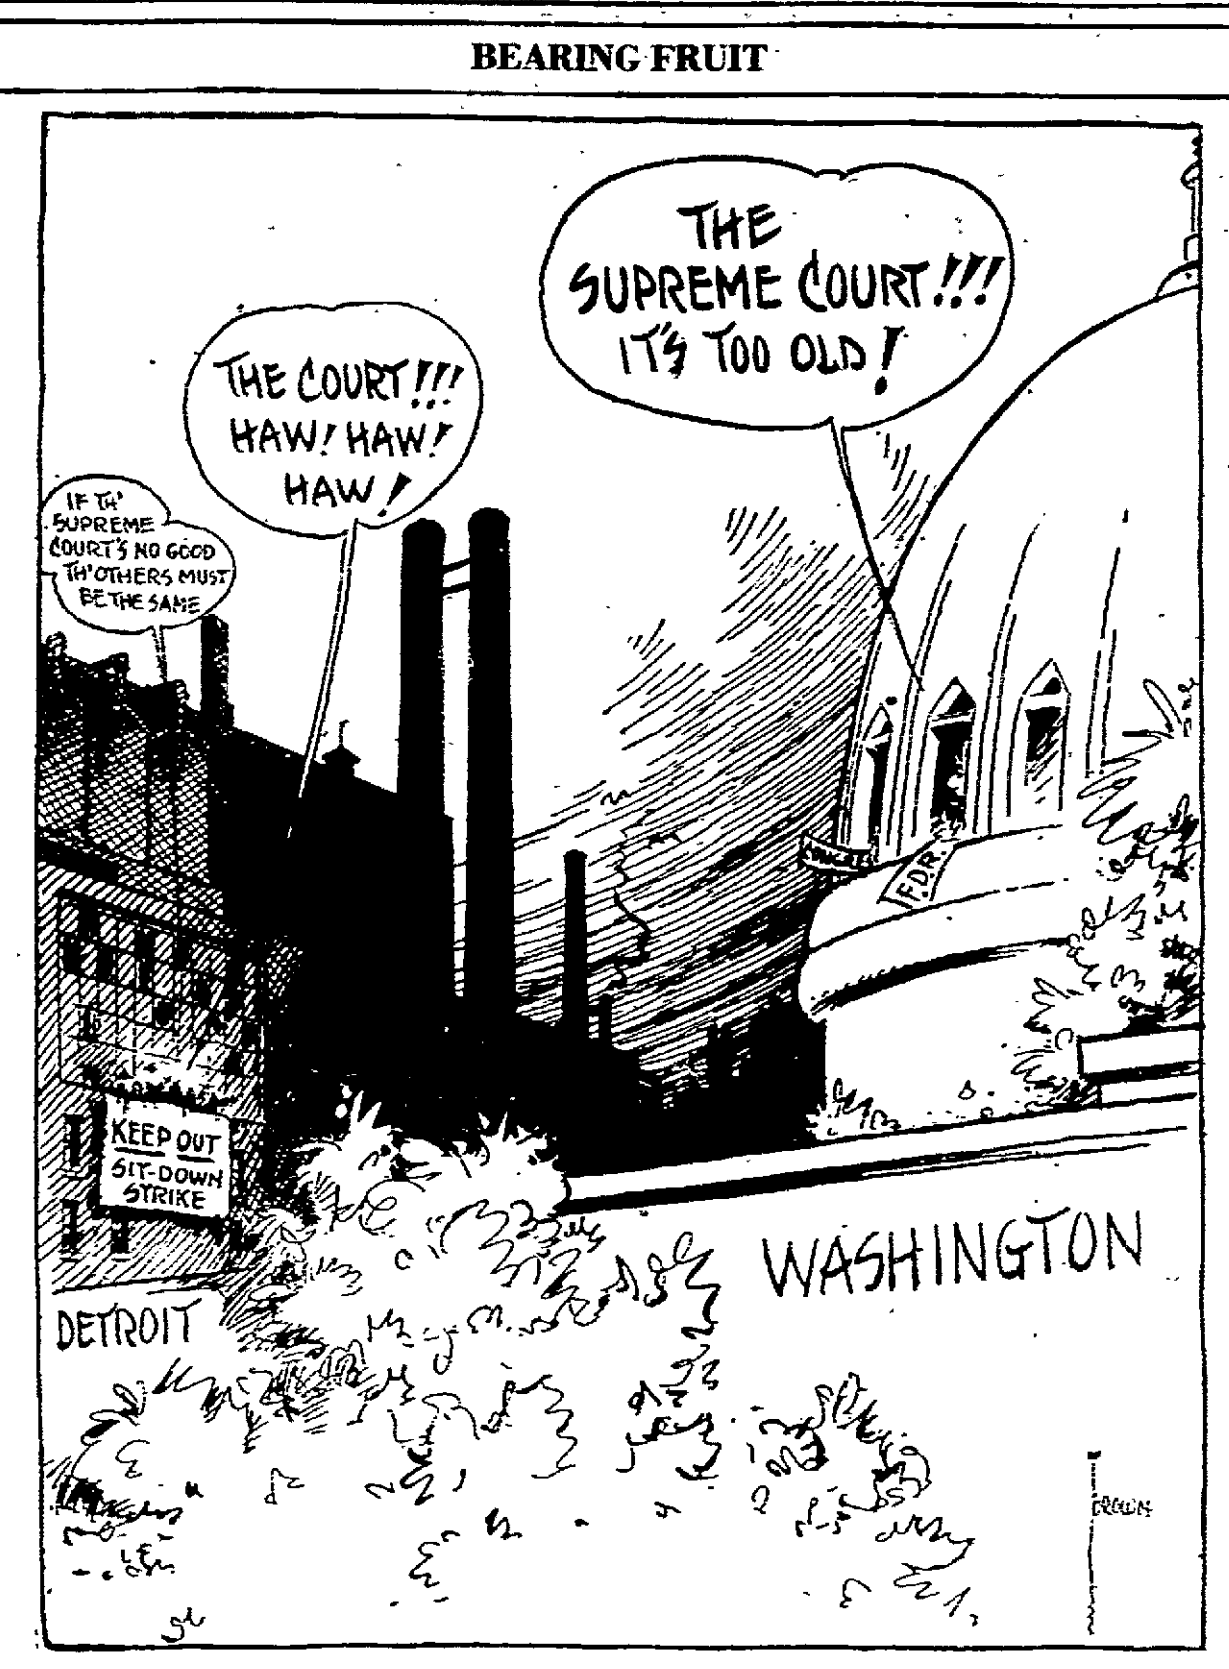

Organization of a German club took place at Appleton High school that day. Officers elected included Joseph Quell, president; Leopold Billstein, vice-president; George Younger, secretary; and Louise Patterson, treasurer.

A marriage license was issued that day to Laurel F. Canner and Nora Irene Leeman, both of town of Maine.

The predicted shortage of soft coal was reached here the previous day when the Island Paper company was forced to shut down because of a lack of fuel.

Its political authority, were its powers debased to such ends, would be immense. That is why this commission is quasi-judicial and independent, rather than political, in its makeup.

As treated in the president's message on executive reorganization the status of the regulatory commissions was left highly indefinite. They were to be under cabinet officers and yet "independent." This seeming anomaly was left for solution in the bill to be drafted in pursuance of the message. The legislation now is being drafted, secretly, at the Capitol. We are led by Mr. Mapes' vehemence to guess that the status being proposed for the independent commissions is not so very independent.—Detroit News.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D. Noted Physician and Author

WHAT DOES A CHILL MEAN?

It is only fair to say, said Dr. Wilson G. Smillie, professor of public health administration, Harvard School of Public Health, in a newspaper article, it is only fair, he softened it, instead of letting 'em have it on the nose, as some other doctor might, 'only fair' to say that some authorities are quite sure that colds are due to exposure, and that is certainly the average opinion."

This is right up your alley, said a newspaper man who kindly sent me the clipping. Oh, well, I am gratified to find the distinguished Professor Smillie sort of edging over this way, but he is so polite about it — I don't know. He may slide back to the other side next week.

When he was working in Alabama he found many people who were sure that malaria was caused by eating watermelons. Dr. Smillie observed. The Alabama people were convinced of that because the seasons coincided. I believe I heard from one of them the other day. My correspondent told me in effect that I was daffy if I thought malaria was contracted from the bite (inoculation) of a mosquito, for he had suffered all kinds of malaria while down south and never had seen a single or even a married mosquito. He reminded me that I myself have stated that people can be poisoned by inhaling carbon monoxide fumes, and so, if I am at all consistent, I must admit that he can be poisoned with malaria by inhaling the odors of decaying vegetable matter.

Dr. Smillie continues: "Colds come coincidentally with cold weather, so for generations people have assumed a causal relationship. A man says: 'I went skiing and got thoroughly chilled, and I caught cold.' But he probably picked up the virus on the snow train, before he started to ski."

That reminds me. I wonder if folks in Alabama or anywhere else believe malaria is caused by cold. A chill is usually the first manifestation of malaria. Perhaps they would believe so if there were only the first chill, but it would be difficult to explain regular chills every alternate day, wouldn't it?

Sometimes I think it is too bad the chill or chilliness that ushers in pneumonia, flu, bronchitis, tonsillitis, grip, coryza, measles, scarlet fever, mumps, epidemic meningitis (cerebro-spinal fever) diphtheria, erysipelas, septicemia or what have you does not recur a few times during the course of the illness—but then, if it did, some one would be sure to say eh-heh, so you let the fire go down, or didn't keep under the covers, or there must have been a draft in the sick-room.

Even the revered Dr. Osler, though at great pains to point out in the "doctor's bible" that the initial chill of pneumonia is an early symptom consequent to infection, opined in the "Practice," and believed to his dying day, that "cold is a factor in lowering the resistance of the bronchial and pulmonary tissues."

Seen And Heard In New York

New York—Quotations: "I was not born in the grand tradition of the theater. My mother did not leave the stage and rush into her dressing room to give me birth, shortly thereafter to carry on in the play that had so inconveniently been disrupted by my arrival. Nor did my parents own a traveling circus or marionette show, so I can not claim to have first opened my eyes upon the robust world of the peripatetic theater."—Joseph Verner Reed.

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — In addition to the obvious effect of the action of the steel industry in boosting wages and cutting hours of its half million employees, this startling move may accomplish a lot of off-the-record business.

Obviously steel sought to escape labor troubles. Equally obvious was the intention of turning the current of public disapproval which has been running against big industry ever since the New Deal took its stand on the troubles of the little man.

But undercurrents in Washington an effort was seen to lessen the pressure on congressmen for rebuilding the Supreme Court. Mr. Roosevelt's captains in the effort to put through his court revision program have counted on pressure from the farmers and labor. Farm leaders were slow coming to the front with endorsements but John L. Lewis, C.I.O. chieftain, and William Green, president of the A.F.L., stumbled and each other in the rush with pledges of support.

Now steel has come forward with grants accomplishing much of labor's program without tinkering with the court.

Incidental but no doubt recognized by the steel industry is the effect increasing wages has upon sustaining prosperity. The $100,000,000 annually which is estimated to be the amount of the wage increase, otherwise would have been available for capital investments of spending in the stock market, either of which might well swell the boom without any sound contribution to prolonged prosperity.

Monroe Doctrine

If you think the Monroe doctrine is dead, listen to the neutrality bill debate in the senate. In fact it is a section exempting Latin American republics from the automatic arms embargo if they should be at war with a non-American nation. This section provides, however, that where an American republic cooperates with a non-American nation (such as in league sanctions) the embargo will apply.

Senator Bailey of North Carolina pointed out that two South American republics at war might each have an overseas ally to pour in supplies and arms. The United States, under its neutrality act, would be prohibited from sending munitions to either. The result, Bailey pointed out, might be that a foreign power might get a real foothold in America. "What then would be done?" Bailey asked.

"We could send our navy down there," replied Senator Pittman.

"You could not send that country an armaments. Cotton might be on the list and you could not send cotton," Bailey insisted.

"I know," said Pittman, "but we would not have to send anything to anybody in a case like that. We would declare that a condition of war existed."

All of which may be startling to Latin Americans who in recent months have been listening to "good neighbor" speeches.

Turn Down Feast Of 40 Courses

Would Eliminate Customary Waste of Time And Money

Nanking, China.—(AP)—"Christian General" Feng Yu-shiang has set the example which Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's New Life movement is to follow in an effort to eliminate the customary waste of time and money in the Chinese feast.

Marshal Feng started his own private "simpler dinner movement" in the capital upon his return to public life a year ago.

Easy going Nanking officials who turned up at the marshal's functions an hour or so late, which has always been quite the thing to do in China, found their host calmly enjoying his repast, or even sipping the tea which signified that the last course had been served. For an appointed time is an appointed time to the erstwhile northern warlord, and a feast is not more than four or five short and simple courses.

Convinced that Marshal Feng is right in believing that Chinese eat too much and take too much time doing it, the New Life movement has decreed a limit on feast courses which, if enforced, will spell the end of 30- and 40-course spreads.

To make sure that diners waste no more time than is necessary, the regulations provide that feasts shall last not more than two hours, time to be counted from the hour fixed by the host's invitation.

Daring Adventure In This Thriller

Zane Grey's 'King of the Royal Mounted' Coming to Elite

Zane Grey, America's outstanding writer of outdoor stories, has chosen a new and thrilling locale for his latest work, "King of the Royal Mounted." Twentieth Century-Fox release at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday with Robert Kent starring and Rosalind Keith and Alan Dinehart heading a cast of screen favorites.

As the title indicates, "King of the Royal Mounted" is a story of Canada's Royal Mounted Police, highlighted by spectacular action, scenic grandeur, hard-fighting romances and fast-shooting thrills.

Robert Kent is cast as Sergeant King, in charge of a remote outpost in the primitive rugged country of Northwest Canada. Rosalind Keith and Alan Dinehart, visitors in King's territory, arouse his suspicions when he learns that the girl has registered under an assumed name and that Dinehart is her attorney.

Kent discovers that Miss Keith and her lawyer are really after a valuable mine which is being operated by Frank McGlynn. Miss Keith claims to own a half-interest in the mine by inheritance from her father, McGlynn's former partner.

'Ready, Willing, Able' Is Fine Musical Comedy

"Ready, Willing and Able," a comedy with music from the Richard Macaulay story of the same name that ran in a national weekly magazine last year, heads the twin bill at the Rio Theater on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday.

Co-starred are the twinkling toed Ruby Keeler, and the famous young eccentric dancer Lee Dixon. The delightful Louise Fazenda has an essential role well fitted to her talents as a comedienne. Winifred Shaw is cast as a musical comedy star. Other notables in the cast are Allen Jenkins, Carol Hughes, Hugh Connell, and Ross Alexander.

Something altogether new in the way of a "number" is a typewriter 30 feet high, on the keys of which dancing girls spell out a love-letter dictated to them.

"Ready, Willing and Able" is said to have a much more substantial and coherent story than most musical films have.

With Jean Muir, Beverly Roberts and Warren Hull as the three points of a new sort of movie triangle, "Her Husband's Secretary," is the co-feature on the program.

State Forest Ranger

Is Dead at Sayner

Madison — Death of Frank J. Long, forest ranger, 64, of Sayner, Wis., was announced by the conservation department today. He had long been connected with conservation work in the state, having passed the first civil service examination for forest rangers in 1911. He had always worked in the Northern State Forest in Vilas county and many of the state forest roads, the forest plantations and the work of forest protection were done under his supervision. Before entering the state service he had an extensive experience in all phases of woods work. As a young man he drove logs down the Embarras and Wolf rivers.

H. W. MacKenzie, Conservation Director, on hearing of his death stated, "Frank Long was one of our most capable woodsmen. As a ranger and conservationist he was efficient, conscientious and industrious. His wide knowledge of forest, land, and game affairs in north-eastern Wisconsin made him especially valuable to the conservation commission for many years."

Senate Has Substitute

Law-Making Proposal

Madison — The senate adopted and advanced a substitute initiative and referendum law-making plan Friday in place of the Hitt resolution passed by the assembly.

The substitute, by Senator Harry Boies, (D), Port Washington, provides for legislative veto by three-fifths vote of both houses, of laws enacted by the electorate through the initiative.

High School Seniors

Plan College Careers

Appleton High school seniors who plan to enter college after graduation will meet with H. H. Helbie, principal, at 3:30 this afternoon to consider entrance examinations and other routine matters. About 100 of the 320 senior students plan to go to college. Mr. Helbie also will explain approximate costs, scholarships, NYA jobs, summer school and extension study.

Twenty Persons Given

Jobs During Last Week

Twenty placements were made by the Wisconsin State Employment Service bureau, located here, last week, according to Fred R. Gehlke, manager. Six men were given jobs in public construction, three in farming and one each in textiles and private construction. Of the women placements eight were in domestic and personal service and one in a restaurant.

Elite Theater Will

Close Three Days

There is no program scheduled for showing at the Elite theater next week Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. This theater continuing its policy of past years will be closed on these days in commemoration of Holy week.

SUED FOR $1 CENTS

Jasper, Texas — (P) — After S. N. Fowler of Newton failed to pay his 1934 school taxes, the school board sued him for $1 cents, which, Fowler thinks, is some kind of a record in "pitting law" on the taxpayer.

THREE STARS PLAY IN 'LOVE IS NEWS'

Don Ameche, Tyrone Power, and Loretta Young are co-starred in "Love Is News" which heads the triple treat pre-Easter program that will be shown at the Rio theater for four days starting today.

The second feature is a thrilling romantic drama "Park Ave. Logger" with George O'Brien in the leading role.

The third attraction is "Don Donald," a Mickey Mouse cartoon in technicolor with the new screen favorite, Donald Duck.

'LIGHT BRIGADE' COMING TO ELITE

That catching his sweetheart in his brother's arm, Errol Flynn (right), was the cause of the fatal charge of the Light Brigade instead of a blunder, is outlined by the plot of "The Charge of the Light Brigade," the Warner Bros. picture which will play a return engagement at the Elite Theatre at an early date. Above are Errol Flynn (right), Olivia de Havilland and Patric Knowles.

20 Species of Willows Can be Found in State

BY CLARA HUSSONG

Pussy willows have always been beloved by children and balmey March days remind us that the season for them is here. Some years we find large, plump "busses," more than half emerged from their brown jackets, by the middle of the month while other years we must wait until early April to find them so well advanced.

The rapidity of their growth depends upon the weather and to some extent upon the degree of shelter they receive during the winter. Tiny catkin buds appear in the fall and a mild wet spell occurs during late fall or in winter you can find plump pussy willows during those seasons. When cold weather comes their growth stops until the next period of warm weather.

Although we have about 20 species of willows in the state, the common pussy willow is perhaps the most familiar to most of us. This is a shrubby form which can be recognized at this season by the large oval catkin bursting out velvety white from their too small brown coverings. The other willows have much smaller catkins most of which are still tightly covered with their brown winter coats.

Grows To Big Size
The black willow is the only native member of the group which grows to tree size in the state. Several kinds of weeping willows have been planted and in some places have escaped cultivation. Willows especially the shrubby forms are hard to identify because they hybridize easily. The pollen from one tree will fertilize the female catkins on another tree with the result that the seedlings grow into a hybrid form.

Most of our native trees bear both male and female flowers on a single tree but the sexes in willow and poplar trees are separated. You will notice this distinction about a month from now when the catkins are in bloom. Some of the trees and shrubs will bear catkins which are covered with yellow pollen. These are the male trees and their pollen is carried by the wind to the female catkins which are without this powdery yellow dust. The female catkins continue to grow and when the seeds are ripe, long tufts of silky down help to scatter them everywhere.

As can be guessed by looking at their catkins, poplars are a branch of the willow family. The quaking asp, or aspen poplar, has catkins now which are almost as large as those of the pussy willow but they are not as gracefully arranged on the twigs as the willow catkins. When the pollen from the male catkins has been blown away they fall, much to the displeasure of tidy homeowners who dislike to see them all over sidewalks, porches and lawns.

Attracts Bees, Other Insects
It is generally believed that poplars are entirely wind-pollinated but female willow catkins have honey-bearing glands at the base of each flower. This attracts bees and other insects who, in their search for honey, carry the pollen from the male catkins to the fruiting pistillate or female flower. Alders are another group of small trees or shrubs bearing catkins. Last Sunday I picked a few sprays of alder and I couldn't help noticing what an attractive shrub this is at all seasons. At this season the male catkins hang in pendant clusters of two, three or four, each one more than an inch in length and of a reddish brown color. In about a month, depending upon the weather, they will have doubled their length and instead of being firm and hard as now, they will have opened up into soft, powdery curls.

Flower Buds Becoming Thick
The female catkins, which grow just above the males on the same twig, are tiny and of the same reddish-brown color. As in the willows, the female flower is finished. The female catkins grow plumper through the summer and in autumn turn to a woody cone. The dark cones persist through winter and spring and at all seasons the shrub is picturesque because of the presence of flower or fruit in its various forms. Alders are common, especially in the northern part of the state where they are often found edging small streams or in swampy tracts.

Other trees besides those bearing catkins are beginning to show signs of spring. If you have maples near your home you may have noticed how thick the flower buds are becoming. As early as the earliest spring flowers their fringed blossoms will appear. Leaf buds on many trees are becoming plump and in the case of two of our poplars, the balsam poplar or tamarack and the balsam-of-gilead, the resinous coating on the leaf buds gives us a hint of the pleasant fragrance which their uncurling leaves will exude later in the spring.

'White Hunter' Will Play Here Two Days

Warner Baxter and Irving Cummings are strong believers in actor-director combinations and with justification, for it was this team which was responsible for one of the finest talking pictures ever made, the memorable "In Old Arizona" which won its crew the Academy Award a few years ago. Therefore, when Darryl F. Zanuck, Twentieth Century-Fox production chief selected Irving Cummings to direct Warner Baxter and June Lang in "White Hunter," on Monday and Tuesday, Bargain Days at the Elite theater, both the star and director were pleased at the opportunity of working together again.

'Maytime' Coming To Rio Theater

Outstanding Musicales
Features Jeanette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy

Hollywood's first spectacular musical picture of the new year, "Maytime," will soon be presented in Appleton at the Rio Theater.

With the glamorous Jeanette MacDonald and the picturesque Nelson Eddy reunited in the starring roles, this extravagant adaptation of the successful stage musical is far more beautiful than the original. That is to be expected, of course, owing to the greater resources of the screen.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy surpass their starring performances in those brilliant pictures, "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie." John Barrymore is excellent as the temperamental and tragic impresario and, Lynne Carver, a lovely stranger to the screen from Kentucky, appears with Tom Brown to provide the juvenile romance.

Miss MacDonald and Eddy rise to their full stature in the realms of stardom, adding to the laurels they won in earlier films. Together they sing the original stage song, "Will You Remember?" so effectively those who hear it will be unlikely to forget it. Miss MacDonald also sings two complete operatic arias and parts of others. Eddy sings three first-rate novelty songs, "Students' Drinking Song," "Vive L'Opera" and "Virginia Ham and Eggs." Together the stars give a touching rendition of the folksong, "Carry Me Back to Old Virginia."

"Maytime" is a brilliant picture. It is an auspicious beginning for the new year's musicals and sets a pace that even Hollywood will find it difficult to follow.

Attack Bill to Bar Women's Jobs Where Liquor Is on Sale

Madison — Retail and wholesale liquor dealers told the assembly state affairs committee Thursday that a bill by Assemblyman Martin Frankowiak, (D), Milwaukee, to forbid employment of women in premises where liquor is sold would bar women clerks, waitresses and chambermaids from jobs in hotels, department and drug stores.

H. R. Neubauer, Milwaukee, of the Associated Wholesale Liquor Dealers, said the bill would prevent women from handling sacramental wine in wholesale establishments that also hold retail licenses for such sales.

A. B. Cohn, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Retail Liquor Dealers' association, and Edward Metz, Milwaukee, president of the state tavern league, declared they favored legislation against "come-on" girls in taverns, but objected to the bill as discriminating against wives and daughters of tavernkeepers.

Frankowiak asked the committee to recommend this and two other of his bills, one forbidding issuance of retail liquor licenses to women, the other limiting the number of taverns to one for every 400 of population.

No 'Storm Cellar' When War Comes, Hull Warns

Washington — A statement by Secretary Hull that America should not attempt to go into a "storm cellar" of neutrality in event of a war abroad appeared Friday in the record of hearings before a house committee.

"I think," the secretary said, "that we should preserve none of those war-breeding dangers in the way of neutral rights that we have been exercising and which have gotten us into serious trouble."

"But that does not mean that in case of war we must look for a storm cellar somewhere and abandon all neutral rights, which may be and have been violated by belligerents over a period of centuries thereby allowing such rights to be destroyed."

"If we do that the next thing we know the belligerents would be or-

RUNAWAY BRIDE AND HIGHWAY ROMEO

A runaway bride, and a highway romeo, with a motor caravan of co-conspirators on their hands, every speeding second crammed with hilarious exciting adventure, but there's always time for love, in the new Claire Trevor-Michael Whalen 20th Century-Fox feature, "TIME OUT FOR ROMANCE" which will be shown for two days, Sunday and Monday, at the Appleton Theater. There are five hundred reasons for attending, besides a great bill of added features, including the two reel Academy Prize winning subject "GIVE ME LIBERTY."

Texas School Disaster Recalls 1913 Christmas Tragedy at Calumet, Mich.

Calumet, Mich. — (P) — One of the largest mass losses of life in the mid-west occurred here on Dec. 24, 1913, when 72 persons, most of them children, were suffocated and trampled to death in a false fire panic.

Several hundred children, sons and daughters of miners, were attending a Christmas party at Italian hall. Santa Claus had just arrived to distribute the gifts when somebody shouted "fire!"

In blind terror hundreds of children fought to escape from the second story auditorium through its little front door, leading to a steep stairway.

They plunged down the steps, trampling on the bodies of their fellow playmates. A newspaper account said:

"Firemen and police had to break in the lower door, against which were piled a mass of little bodies. It was impossible to pull from the bottom of the heap several little children who pleaded to be saved, so tightly were the bodies held by the great weight above."

"Men had to climb up the heap and drag away bodies."

Those who lived were cared for in streets and neighboring stores. The dead were piled outside Italian hall.

An inquest failed to determine who shouted the false warning which sent the children to their death.

Zimney Fined $100, Costs For Driving While Drunk

Fond du Lac — (P) — C. R. Zimney, 40, Milwaukee, a state beverage tax division inspector, was fined $100 and costs in municipal court Friday after Judge L. E. Lurvey denied a motion for a new trial on a drunken driving charge. Zimney appealed immediately to the circuit court.

The inspector was convicted Monday by a jury of five men and one woman. Zimney testified he had been drinking but denied he was intoxicated the day of his arrest, Feb. 13, after a collision. He maintained it was necessary for him to drink in performance of his duties.

The secretary appeared before a house appropriations subcommittee. His testimony was made public when the next year's appropriation for the state department was recommended to the house.

Flint Solon Would Classify Sit-Down Strike as Felony

Lansing, Mich. — (P) — State Senator William Palmer of Flint, scene of the first aggravated sit-down strikes in automobile labor disputes, sought support in the legislature today for a bill to place such strikes in the "felony" category.

A companion bill introduced by Palmer, Democrat and majority floor leader, would make it mandatory for both employers and employees to enter negotiations on labor issues within 20 days after service of notice by either side.

The bills, which were said not to have originated with the administration of Governor Frank Murphy, would provide equally severe penalties with a maximum penalty of $2,500 fine, five years imprisonment or both.

Administration leaders have indicated their program in labor problems will include bills to fix

Change Policy at Appleton Theater

Easter Season Will be Opened With Outstanding Program

A change of policy marks next week at the Appleton Theater, where for two days Thursday and Friday, a double feature program will be shown, headed by "Espionage" the MGM spy thriller with Edmund Lowe, Madge Evans, Paul Lukas and Ketti Gallian. Lowe and Evans, as rival newspaper reporters on the trail of a "hot" munitions story are hardly to be blamed if they occasionally forget about spies and intrigues in this, the season's grandest laugh and thrill romance. The second feature, brings a popular outdoor star's first feature to the Appleton Theater, the stars of the singing favorite, Jean O'Jury, in his latest, "Roundup Time in Texas" is deserving of a showing on this outstanding program, especially planned for the out-of-school patronage this holiday week, being lavishly directed and staged.

That double feature program remains for two days only, for on Saturday March 27, we open our Easter Season with an outstanding double feature program, the first feature now a sensation at the Warner Theatre in Milwaukee, "The Devils" starring Victor McLaglen, Preston Foster and Ida Lupino. The second hit feature on this program, brings the lovers of "An Wilder," "Gaeli Parker and Eric Linden in "Gaeli Loves Boy," a Grand National offering.

IRISH, YOUNG AND OLD, CELEBRATE ST. PATRICK'S DAY

There were Flanagans, Roaches and Quinns and a number of others who, though lacking Irish names could still boast of Irish blood in their veins, on the committees and among the guests at the various St. Patrick's day parties in Appleton this week. Wearing green flowers or bits of green ribbon in tribute to St. Patrick, several members of the committee for the Catholic Daughters of America St. Patrick's card party held Wednesday night at Conway hotel are shown above as they checked over scores preceding

Cartoonist From Chicago Speaks at Sectional Rally

A chalk talk by Vaughn R. Shoemaker, chief cartoonist for the Chicago Daily News, was the principal feature of the sectional rally of Christ Ambassadors which was held last night at the Gospel temple with 350 persons from Appleton, Green Bay, Manitowoc, Oshkosh, Fond du Lac and Shawano attending. Mr. Shoemaker spoke on how and why he became a Christian.

The Rev. David Carlson, Oshkosh, secretary of the Wisconsin and Northern Michigan district, gave a short talk, and Robert Carlson, Chicago, who accompanied Mr. Shoemaker to Appleton, led the community singing. Evangelist Christian Hild who is conducting a revival at the Gospel tabernacle in Oshkosh, spoke briefly, and leaders of young people's groups from nearby towns were on the platform.

A women's trio from Shawano, Gospel tabernacle sang, and Mrs. Albert Nieland and Miss Adeline Wichmann, Appleton, sang a duet, "Wonderful Story." Mrs. Nieland played the accordion accompaniment.

Parties

Twenty relatives and friends surprised Mrs. Peter Fuhrmann Thursday night at her home at 807 W. Franklin street in honor of her eighty-second birthday anniversary. Schafkopf was played, the prizes going to John Schilling, Edward Fuhrmann and Robert Eber. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Anton Meier, Menasha, and Edward Fuhrmann, New Glarus.

Thirty-eight tables of bridge schafkopf and dice were in play at the card party given Friday evening in Old Fellows hall by Deborah Robekah lodge. Proceeds will be used to finance the district meeting to be held here in April.

Prizes at nuptial bride were won by Mrs. Minnie Mills, first; Axel Fahlstrom, second, and Mrs. John Harrison, last, at schafkopf, by Mrs. E. N. Stames, first; Mrs. Ray Schmidt, second, and Mrs. Rose Korte, last, and at dice by George Hayes, first, and Mrs. Vera Blakeslee, last. Mrs. Stella Sharpe was awarded the special prize.

Dr. John Fanslow, 921 E. Alton street, entertained about 15 guests at dinner and bridge Friday night at the Heartstone Tea room.

Mrs. Mary Meitz and Mrs. Clara Sullivan won prizes at schafkopf, Mrs. Edna Rasmussen, and Mrs. Clara Rask at bridge and Mrs. Mildred Zerbe, and Mrs. Nina's Davis at dice at the social meeting of Charles O. Bess auxiliary to United Spanish War Veterans Friday night at the armory. The committee included Mrs. Vernice Furnal, chairman; Mrs. Beatrice Frank, Mrs. Augusta Giese and Mrs. Hattie Gerarden.

Make Final Plans for Cancer Drive

FINAL instructions for the intensive drive against cancer which Appleton women are conducting next week were received by the workers who met Friday afternoon at Appleton Womans club. Mrs. R. J. White, vice commander of the women's field army of the sixth medical district, spoke to the women in small groups, explaining the purpose of the drive and what is hoped will be accomplished by it, and the various territories were outlined for the workers.

Over 80 women who have agreed to work on the drive will start out Monday morning and call at the various homes in the city, distributing cancer control literature and enrolling members in the movement. A large number of Appleton clergymen have agreed to speak from their pulpits Sunday morning about the cancer control drive.

Mrs. Al Brandt, E. Wisconsin avenue, entertained the Jolly Nine club Thursday afternoon at her home, prizes at schafkopf going to Mrs. Henry Strutz, Mrs. Herbert Vandere, Mrs. Grover Wiegand and Mrs. Nick Salm. The next meeting will be in two weeks with Mrs. Otto Kasten, N. Lawe street.

Mrs. C. E. Murdock discussed the World War and Mrs. Stanley Staidt reviewed the book, "Education Before Verdun" by Zueig at the meeting of Appleton Delphin club Friday afternoon at Appleton Womans club. The next meeting will be April 2 when Mrs. Seymour Gmeiner will speak on "Big Business" and Mrs. William Strassberger will review "Dupont Dynasty."

Entertain at Shower For Mrs. Moriarity

Mrs. Jake Lightart and Mrs. A. H. Otto, Clintonville, entertained at a miscellaneous shower Thursday evening at the former's home in honor of Mrs. Sylvester Moriarity, Clintonville. A desert luncheon was followed by five tables of bridge with a prize awarded for the high score at each table. Those who received them were Miss Jane Donley, Miss Marcella Beschta, Miss Verona Binder, Mrs. Ronald Schmidt and Mrs. Frank Kohl. Several gifts were presented to Mrs. Moriarity, who was Miss Margaret Monty before her marriage last month. Mrs. Moriarity expects to leave after April 1 for Waukesha, where her husband is employed.

Appleton Pair Will Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. John Kippenhan, 1315 S. Mason street, will observe their golden wedding anniversary Sunday with a dinner for the immediate relatives at noon and open house in the afternoon. Guests at the dinner, in addition to the sons and daughters and their families, will be the Rev. and Mrs. Scheib, Kaukauna. The Kippenhans were married in Greenwood, Wis., 50 years ago.

Social Group Is Formed at Church Meet

FIFTY young married people of First Methodist Episcopal church attended a get-together Friday night at the church to form an organization which will meet periodically for social purposes. The committee in charge of last night's meeting included Mr. and Mrs. Earl D. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bon Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Hackleman and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Bailey.

Progressive games were played and prizes awarded to Mrs. Hackleman, Stanley Zahrt, Mrs. Floyd Laabs, Mrs. Howard Lochlin, Mrs. Russell Johnson, Mrs. Earl Weiteman, Louis Micheln and Mrs. Herbert L. Davis. Community singing took place also.

Plans were made for another party to be held April 16 at which time the group will complete its organization and decided on a regular schedule of meetings.

Dr. E. A. Bergholz, Milwaukee physician who was scheduled to speak in Appleton several weeks ago but was prevented by the weather from appearing will give his postponed lecture on "Evolution or Creation?" at 7:45 Sunday night, in the parlors of Mt. Olive Lutheran church. The lecture is being sponsored by the Senior Waltham League of the church and is open to anyone interested.

Prizes for the most attractive lunch boxes at the box social given by Baptist Young People's Union Friday night in the church parlors went to Miss Dorothy Leitzke, first; Miss Doris Ryan, second, and Miss Hazel Leitzke, third. Games were played and the boxes were auctioned. Miss Hazel Leitzke was general chairman of the event, Howard Ruth was in charge of games and Miss Louise Ryan was chairman of refreshments.

Presents Copy of Book on History To Public Library

Colonel Howard Green, Milwaukee, father of Howard T. Greene, candidate for governor in the last election, has presented a copy of his book, "Richard Fish Cadie: Missionary" to Appleton Public Library. The book should be of interest to Appleton people both because it contains something of the early history of this locality, particularly Green Bay, and because Colonel Greene is a first cousin of Miss Anna L. Tenney, 724 E. Alton street. The book is about the Rev. Richard Cadie, a missionary of the Protestant Episcopal church in the territories of Wisconsin and Michigan in the early nineteenth century, who was an uncle of Miss Tenney and Colonel Greene. It was printed privately by the Davis-Greene corporation.

Nine Seeking Seat of Late Speaker Carow

Madison—(P)—Nine candidates for assemblyman from Rusk and Sawyer counties filed papers with the secretary of state before the deadline last night.

Two Republicans and seven Progressives will contest for nominations in the primary election April 6.

William Rybarczyk of Hawkins, a Republican, was the last to file. Among the nine seeking the office of the late J. W. Carow, former Progressive speaker of the assembly, is his widow, Mrs. Aris Carow, Ladysmith.

ESCAPE IF YOU CAN BY FREDERICK JACKSON

SYNOPSIS: When Count Vronski, who is blackmailing Anne Phelps with love letters, is shot dead in her studio, at least three persons are nearby: Anne, Clarke Bigelow and Karsanoff. They hide the corpse during a party, then Bigelow and Dr. Austrelitz, the physician, move it to Vronski's rooms. Police arrest Thorndyke, a wealthy chap who hated Vronski. Dryden's wife, Lorna, disappears to make the police suspect her. Anne and Bigelow locate Lorna and check her off their list of suspects which still includes Karsanoff and Baroness Dormstatt.

Chapter 34

BIGELOW slept late on the following morning. It was 12 o'clock when he rang for coffee and looked at the papers.

The search for Lorna Dryden was still on, apparently. The police reported that Dryden had had a letter from his wife posted in the metropolitan section of the city and they believed that she had taken cover not far from her own apartment. The city was being combed for her, but as yet no trace of her had been discovered. In her letter she had given no reason for her disappearance but had merely assured her husband that she was all right and that he need not worry about her. From this the police deduced that he knew the reason, that the disappearance had probably been planned between husband and wife before the arrest, and that the letter was intended simply to notify him that the plan had been successfully carried out. There were more pictures of Lorna Dryden and the public was urged to notify the police if they saw her.

Bigelow tossed aside the papers and telephoned Anne. But Walters informed him that Anne had gone out and said that Mrs. Phelps desired to speak with him. A few moments later his aunt was on the wire.

"Anne is lunching out, my dear," said Mrs. Phelps. "but I thought you might like to come and lunch with me."

"Why don't you come down here and lunch with me?" urged Bigelow. "It will do you good to see a little life."

"Perhaps it would," she agreed. "Very well, I'll come at once. But don't order me a cocktail. Dryden is my measure."

"Dryden shall be," he agreed. "Where is Anne lunching?"

"With Philip Whitelaw," answered his aunt. "See you at one, then, my dear."

"Right," answered Bigelow.

In Anne's room.

He turned on his back and considered himself in the mirror as he laid out his shaving things. He was not handsome, he knew, but he had always believed that he had some intelligence and his mother had frequently assured him that he had charm. She had congratulated herself about it, taking most of the credit, as his father's family hadn't got it. And he was forced to accept her estimate as other women had testified to it in later years.

He had always admired women enormously and had had a large acquaintance among them abroad. He had even played at being in love with some of them. But he had never been in love and he knew it.

Was he in love with Anne, now, he wondered?

Certainly, the thought of her going off to lunch with Philip Whitelaw didn't please him. He had been conscious of a distinct depression when he had heard the news. But was he just being a dog in the manger about her or was he in love with her? Because of the vague family tie that bound them together, was he a loving a proprietary air toward her? Or was their constant association of the past few days becoming a habit?

He began to shave, trying to think of Anne dispassionately. She was lovely, no denying that. And she had a sense of humor. He liked to see her smile; it was ravishing. And she had a flair for clothes. Accustomed to going about with Parisiennes-as he was-he was still able to take pleasure in the effect Anne always managed to create. And now that he had become used to her friendly attitude toward all the world, he began to like it.

Unquestionably, then, he approved of Anne. But there was that business about the letters. What was he to make of that? Was there a man in her life of whom he knew nothing? Or was it Philip Whitelaw who was allying to when she had said the secret was not hers to tell?

And what had she meant the night before by saying she had been thinking of moving up the stairs? Did she mean that she would find another to replace it or that it was associated with a part of her life that was over? And just what part in her life had the studio played?

He could find no satisfactory answers to any of these questions but he told himself-as he soaked in his tub-that he could so steer the conversation when his aunt came that he could find out at least as much as she knew.

About Philip Whitelaw

He was waiting in the lobby when Mrs. Phelps arrived. His shadow, he noticed, was waiting in the lobby, too, but they ignored each other. He conducted his aunt to the bar for her sherry.

"Well," she announced, "this is the first time I have ever been in a bar room. Are you quite sure it's all right, my dear? In Paris, I know-but in New York?"

"Quite all right," he assured her, smiling.

"A number of people know me here," she reminded him as she reached for an olive.

"Anne didn't mention having a luncheon date with Whitelaw," he said, casually. "In fact, I was under the impression she was going to lunch with me."

"Really, dear?" murmured Mrs. Phelps. "Well, no doubt she didn't remember. Philip called her up rather early and she was going off

Hold Forty Hour Devotions at 3 Menasha Churches

All Denominations Plan For Special Palm Sunday Services

Menasha—Forty hour devotions at the St. Patrick, St. Mary and St. John Catholic churches in Menasha began Thursday evening with special masses and evening services. Palm Sunday services will be held Sunday morning and announcement of Holy Week masses and services will be made. The Rev. Father Smith, Bailey's Harbor, is in charge of the evening services during 40 hour devotions at St. Patrick's Catholic church.

A Trinity Lutheran church, Palm Sunday services will be held at 8:45 in German and 10 o'clock in English, the sermon being "Palms for the King." The Rev. Paul G. Bergmann, pastor, will be in charge. The choir will sing "The King Draws Near." Holy week services will begin Maundy Thursday evening as holy communion is offered and the Rev. Mr. Bergmann presents a sermon on "The Communion Question: Is It I?" At 10 o'clock Good Friday morning, the German holy communion service will be held and at 10 o'clock in English the sacred cantata will be presented by the choir. Communion announcements will be made at the Wednesday evening service.

Plan Bake Sale

The Ladies Society of the Trinity Lutheran church is planning a bake sale at Haleda market Saturday afternoon.

At the First Congregational church, Palm Sunday, Sunday school will be held at 9:30 and morning worship at 10:30 with the anthem by the chorus choir, "Jerusalem" by Parker. Mrs. R. S. Faulkner will sing a solo, "Palm Branches" by J. Faure. The Rev. William A. Jacobs will present a Palm Sunday sermon on "A Man and a Cross." The young people will have a meeting at 7 o'clock Sunday evening.

Holy week services will begin Wednesday with a service of meditation and music at 7:30 Wednesday evening and at 7:30 Friday morning. The Good Friday communion service and reception of new members will be held at the young people's choir under the direction of Mrs. H. B. Sutton will be in charge of the Easter sunrise service which is to be held at 6 o'clock Easter Sunday morning.

Holy Communion

Holy communion will be offered at 8 o'clock Sunday morning at the St. Thomas Episcopal church with morning prayer and sermon at 11 o'clock. There will be a regular celebration of the holy communion every morning at 10 o'clock from Monday through Thursday and special preparation service for Easter communion will be held at 7:15 Tuesday evening. The Three Hours will be observed from 12 to 3 at the church Good Friday and at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon, holy baptism will be held. Holy communion will be offered at 7 and 8 o'clock Easter Sunday morning and the choral Eucharist and children's cross at 11 o'clock Easter Sunday morning. The children's corporate communion will be held at 9:30 Easter Sunday morning.

Plan Entertainment For Annual Home Show

Menasha—The Central West Entertainment bureau, Oshkosh, will provide free acts for the second annual Twin City Home show to be held at 8 o'clock Saturday night and 9 and 10 o'clock Sunday morning, according to an announcement made by A. C. Haselaw, general chairman, this morning.

Instead of erecting a stage at one end of the building the stage will be located in the center of the main floor over the exhibition booths in order that the audience may stand on all four sides.

The most attractive booth will be determined by a vote of the people in attendance. A representative of the Federal Housing administration will be at the show, Mr. Haselaw said.

No General Exhibits Planned This Spring

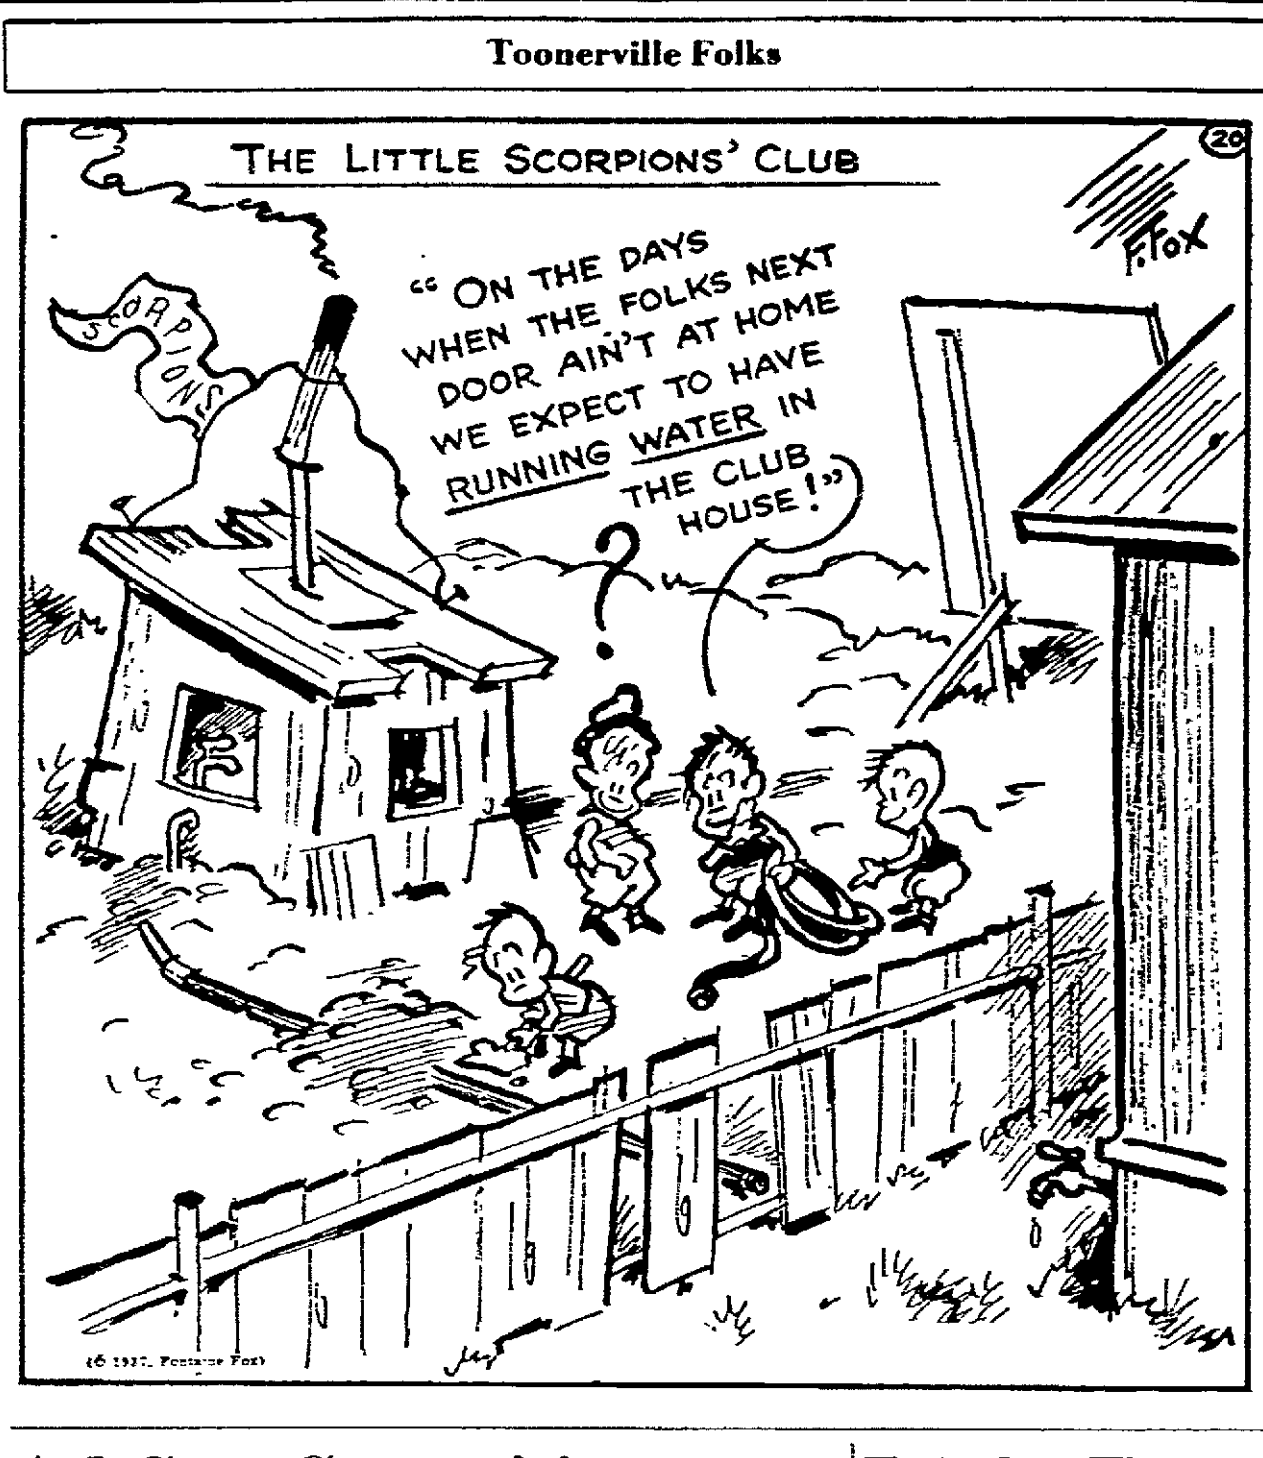

Menasha—There will be no general exhibits in Neenah Public schools this spring, according to C. F. Hedra, superintendent of schools. Activities of parent-teacher associations and so to school nights for parents have supplanted the annual fair, it was said. Individual teachers may plan and stage exhibits.

Spring vacation at all public schools will begin Monday, March 22. Classes will be resumed Monday, March 23, according to Mr. Hedra.

PLAN SERVICES

Menasha—Cruiser school of St. Thomas Episcopal church will have its Easter Day corporate communion at 9:50 Easter Sunday morning at which time the Lenten mile boxes will be presented. An unusual feature in the service this year will be the decoration of a cross by flowers brought by the children.

The Twin Cities office of the Appleton Post-Crescent for its editorial, circulation and advertising departments is located at 510 N. Commercial street and the telephone numbers are 200 and 1992. News items, copy or orders for advertising and orders for subscriptions may be left at the office or may be telephoned. These numbers also may be called before 7 o'clock in the evening for delivery of papers missed by carriers in Neenah or Menasha.

Ask State Supervision Of Taxi Cab Business

(Post-Crescent Madison Bureau)

Madison—Regulation of the taxi cab business by the Public Service commission is asked by Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council in a letter to members of the legislature.

Signed by Ervin Wheelock, secretary of the council, the letter asks members' support of a bill introduced in the state senate by Senator Michael F. Kresky, (D), Green Bay, which will provide for state regulation of local taxi lines.

An affidavit citing a long list of grievances against their employer, signed by Twin City drivers, accompanies the letter. Among other things, the document cites long hours, poor pay, unsafe working conditions, and discrimination against the union.

List Charges

Charges that cab lines in Appleton and Manitowish are employing devious methods to escape paying social security taxes, and to avoid responsibility under the Wisconsin laws governing unemployment insurance and compensation" were contained in Wheelock's letter.

The Kresky bill has been held by the committee on corporations and taxation for the last week when an investigation is being made of conditions in Green Bay, where the proposal originated with the common council.

Green Bay officials appeared before the committee at a public hearing two weeks ago to present the arguments in favor of state regulation, but a long line of cab company officials from Racine, Kenosha, Milwaukee, and Madison opposed vigorously.

Union Meetings are Listed for Next Week

Menasha—The Musicians Union Local No. 182, will conduct a regular meeting at 9 o'clock Sunday morning and the Truckdrivers Union will meet at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at start the week's activities at the Twin City Union club.

Hodcarriers, Builders and Common Laborers, Local No. 975, will hold a special meeting at the club Monday night and will hold a regular meeting Thursday evening at the club.

Other meetings scheduled for next week are: Tuesday, Coopers Union, Local No. 22, Wednesday, Union Labor League, and 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, Box Makers Union, Local No. 201.

Because of Good Friday fall in their regular meeting night, members of the Neenah-Menasha Trades and Labor council will not meet this week.

Hold Conference on Remodeling of Depot

Neenah—Mayor Edwin A. Kalish and City Clerk Harry S. Zemlock conferred with W. W. Wade, Fond du Lac division superintendent of the Soo line railway, in regard to the proposed remodeling of the depot here. Aldermen instructed the city officials to urge construction of a new combined depot and freight station at a meeting Thursday evening Mr. Wade said the suggestion will be forwarded to higher officials of the railway company.

Petty Thief Steals Change at Avalon Cafe

Menasha—Taking only change left in the cash register, a petty thief entered the Avalon Cafe last night using a skeleton key to make his entry, Chief of Police Alex Slomski reported this morning.

The theft was discovered this morning by George Farmakes, proprietor, when he discovered the cash gone and a key, which had been in the lock of the rear door, on the floor. The culprit apparently inserted his key in the lock and pushed the house key to the floor, the chief said. Police are investigating the theft.

Change at Avalon Cafe

Menasha—Joe Doyle, transient, was sentenced to serve 30 days in Winnebago county jail by Judge Chris Jensen when he appeared in justice court this morning and pleaded guilty to a charge of vagrancy. He was arrested by Neenah police last night.

Neenah Churches List Schedules For Holy Week

Good Friday Union Service Planned at Presbyterian Church

Neenah—As Palm Sunday ushers in the holy week, Neenah churches have announced services for that week which precedes Easter Sunday. The annual Good Friday union service which will be held at the First Presbyterian church this year with services from 12 noon to 3 o'clock, the various pastors of the city churches dividing the services, among themselves.

Home Decoration Should Reflect Personality of Persons Living There

Neenah—Modern ideas in interior decorating are not always liveable ones, Miss Mae Faville, interior decorator, Milwaukee, told members of the Neenah Economics club at the Y. W. C. A. Friday afternoon as she emphasized the importance of decorating a home to reflect the personality and individuality of the people within it. Miss Faville displayed fabric samples throughout the discussion.

"You do not need to build over your whole home to do interior decorating. It isn't how much money you spend but how wisely you spend it," said Miss Faville as she displayed copies of old world chintz that retained, at very reasonable prices.

In discussing the problems of modern interior decorating, Miss Faville told the group about questions many women ask and what she has answered.

Explains Colors

"A room that faces the north or east should never have too much blue or green, it becomes too drab. Similarly a room to the east or west shouldn't have too much red and rose because it tends to bring the four walls together. Many people ask if glass curtains should be used if drapes are being used. By all means. Glass curtains soften the glare and give a homey atmosphere to the room.

"Don't use figured glass curtains it makes the room appear smaller. Harmonize your hangings with your furniture but don't get too much of one color, seek complementary colors. Remember too, that regardless of how formal a room may be, flowers can make it informal and regardless of how informal a room may be, flowers can make it formal.

"Domestic dyes in chintz fabrics are much better than imported dyes, an interesting point to remember when you are purchasing chintz. Peach, brown and green are definite new colors for spring this year but one must be careful not to select a too intense coloring."

Displays Materials

Miss Faville displayed embroidered voiles which are being used in bedrooms, wool damask which is being used in living rooms for drapes, satins which while lovely, "are not particularly liveable," pinto satin which is being used for spreads and hangings and is washable, chintz, printed and plain organdies, and a new material, body of which is pongee, which is being used for shower and bathroom curtains as well as kitchen curtains.

Mrs. Rufus Clough sang "The Way of the Cross" and she was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. E. H. Schultz.

At a short business meeting which preceded the talk by Miss Faville, Mrs. Norbert Verbrick, president of the club, urged the women to attend the March 30 luncheon at the Valley Inn which is being held in honor of Mrs. A. L. Blackstone.

Mrs. Verbrick who has been chosen chairman of the Twin City division of the Women's Field Army, of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, announced the program of the society which is an organization of the National Federation of Women's Clubs and told the club members that Mrs. Russell Flom was chairman of the personal donation committee as the club has a regulation whereby no donations can be made during the club year. The money which is to be secured from all clubs in the federation will be used for research purposes. Mrs. Verbrick has called a meeting of all her committee chairman at her home Saturday afternoon at which time plans for the Twin Cities part in the program will be outlined.

Miss Muriel Schrage and Miss Lucille Schwartz will have charge of the meet.

Make Good Progress On Warehouse Project

Menasha—Progress on the storage warehouse being constructed by the Menasha Wooden Ware company north of the main building is being shown. Workmen are now erecting framework beams for the one-story building which will be 40 feet wide, 144 feet long and 32 feet high.

The building will be of frame construction and will be completed about May 1. It will be used for storing paper rolls. Construction was started when the need for additional storage was felt by the company because of the necessity of carrying a larger stock.

Menasha Youths to be Questioned on Thefts

Menasha—Three Menasha youths, arrested about 12:30 last night by Menasha police for the alleged theft of miscellaneous articles in several Menasha taverns, will be questioned tonight at the police station. Chief Stomski said this morning that the boys had been taking mirrors, salt and pepper shakers and other accessories from local taverns.

ISSUE PAPER

Neenah—An "April Fool" edition of The Cub, student newspaper at Neenah High school, was issued yesterday. Senior class students were in charge of the publication.

West Green Bay Wrestlers Quit, Charge Neenah Used Illegal Holds

Neenah—Charging that Neenah High school wrestlers were using illegal and torture holds, the West Green Bay squad, training 18 to 5 in a match here last evening, walked off the floor. The invaders objected to the use of the lever lock.

John Holzman, principal of Neenah High school, said the hold was sanctioned by the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic association and other amateur associations. The match is considered a forfeit in favor of Neenah and leaves the squad with a season record of no defeats.

"Regardless of our undefeated standing we are not claiming a state championship," Mr. Holzman said. "The title of state champion ship does not exist because there is no organization in high school wrestling circles," he said.

Menasha Society

Menasha—Mrs. E. H. Schultz, 541 Broad street, will entertain the Menasha Ladies Study club Monday. Miss Hattie Norstrom will present a talk on "Fright by Highway"; Marion Homan, "Carl Sandburg"; Rosemary Griffith, "Fools of Wise Men"; Richard Steffens, "The Convict"; Vernon Ponto, "The Family Takes a Ride"; Richard Rohloff, "Bevate of Aibileen's Head"; Ethel Harold, "The Woman Who Never Gives Up"; Evelyn Noel, "The Road to Peace"; Robert Gazecki, Chester Rembleske, William Spengler and Jack Gummerus will be the extemporaneous speakers. Miss Muriel Schrage and Miss Lucille Schwartz will have charge of the meet.

Here and There Bridge club met Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ida Thiel, 344 First street. Honors in bridge went to Mrs. Apolline Laux and Mrs. Winnie Winters. The club will meet next week with Mrs. Viola Schuckoske, 347 1/2 Second street.

Plans for a food sale and the balloting on candidates who will be initiated at the April meeting featured the business meeting of the Betty Rebekahs Friday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. Mrs. Carolyn Olson was named chairman of the social to be held at the next meeting.

All officers of the Catholic Women's Benevolent society, St. Mary's court, were reelected and plans for installation April 23 were discussed at the Friday evening meeting at the school hall. Mrs. Eleanor Schmidt, high priest of the state organization, Milwaukee, will be installing officer. A covered dish supper will be held and games will be played after the ceremony. Members were asked to bring prizes. Officers re-elected include Marzette Brandstener, president; Gertrude Siehr, vice president; Theresa Orin, financial secretary; Katherine St. Peter, recording secretary; Anna Fahrbach, treasurer; Christina

Lions to Hear College Debaters at Meet Monday

Menasha—Two members of the Lawrence college debate team and two from Oshkosh State Teachers college will present the problem of "Cooperatives" at the regular meeting of the Menasha Lions club to be held Monday noon at the Memorial building. The debaters will not argue the question but will give only a short presentation of the problem. Arrangements for the program were made by A. J. Armstrong.

Plan Special Services for Palm Sunday

Ceremonies Will Usher in Observation of Holy Week

New London—Processions and Palm Sunday services tomorrow will serve as a preliminary to special holy week services planned in New London churches for next week.

At the Congregational church the Sunday school pupils will join in the procession and palm services at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning. The Rev. A. W. Sweeney will deliver special addresses to the children in the afternoon and evening. Special services will be held each evening at 7:30 during the first part of the week with visiting preachers each night.

Dr. D. F. Bent of Oshkosh will deliver the sermon Monday evening. Dr. W. A. Jacobs of Menasha on Tuesday, and the Rev. R. F. Peterson of Kaukauna on Wednesday evening. Rev. Sweeney will conduct the service Thursday evening at the observance of the sacrament of the Lord's supper.

Schmallenberg Will Quit School Board

New London—The positions of two New London school commissioners, Dr. C. E. Schmallenberg, president of the board, and L. C. Schmallenberg, are open to candidates for the election April 6. Mrs. J. C. Freeman, city clerk, reminded yesterday, Dr. Schmallenberg has announced his intention to run for another term while Mr. Schmallenberg has indicated he will retire. The position pays no compensation.

Mrs. Freeman issued notice that all candidates for city positions must file nomination papers at the city clerk's office sometime Monday, March 22 is the deadline set by statute this year. Positions of five aldermen, five supervisors, city attorney, city assessor, and the two school commissioners are open to candidates.

Appleton Will Meet

New London Squad

New London—Appleton's Y. M. C. A. volleyball team will invade the floor of the New London High school gym here next Tuesday evening in a contest with a team picked from the New London Community recreational group which holds sessions at the gym each week under the direction of Robert Shortell. It was announced yesterday.

The team to represent New London has not been picked yet, Shortell said. The exhibition is free to the public and a good attendance of interested persons is expected.

The New London group is planning to enter a team in the state volleyball tournament which will be held at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. gymnasium April 10, according to the local director.

STUDENTS HAVE THEIR OWN POST OFFICE

Third graders at Lincoln school in New London know all about the post office and the mails now after six weeks of study on a project centered on the office shown above which pupils built themselves in their classroom. Charles Beaver is taking his turn as postmaster and Marian Quant is mailing a letter. Tangle Borchardt is waiting outside. The children have learned how mail is sorted, dispatched and how it travels and have prepared large posters illustrating their knowledge. A glimpse of some posters are at the right. W. T. Maxted, New London rural mail carrier, explained his work to the class a short time ago. (Post-Crescent Photo)

Vaughan School Will Not Be Closed, Voters Decide

Manawa—A problem that will probably be brought up more frequently among many rural schools in the future was decided for the time being by members of the Vaughan school district in the town of Little Wolf, Wednesday evening. At a special meeting called to decide whether or not to close the school, it was voted 25 to 10 to keep the school in operation.

There are only eight pupils attending classes, with prospects that this number will be cut to seven next year. The parents of several children believed that money could be saved and their youngsters be given superior advantages by transporting the children to the Manawa state graded school.

Tom Flanagan, district clerk, called the meeting to order, and J. H. Flanagan was named chairman. C. H. Bachor, county superintendent of schools, explained the procedure necessary to close the institution, told of the experiences of other districts that closed their schools, and mentioned the probable action then to be effected. A discussion, carried off principally by J. T. O'Donnell in favor of a closed school, and by William Feathers and William Vaughan against such procedure. The resulting ballot indicated a wide margin against the move.

The Vaughan school building is a cement block structure constructed 30 years ago. It is in good condition and well equipped. The school operates only eight months during the year. Miss Norene Allen is the teacher and members of the school board include Tom Flanagan, clerk; Arthur Schuelke, treasurer; Bernard Glocke, director.

When a rural district closes its school, it continues to receive $250 county aid and $250 state aid, and in case all children residing more than two miles from any school are transported, they receive $100 additional state aid. The district also received 10 cents per day for each child transported, which in the case of seven children attending every day would be $125 per year.

It was estimated that the Vaughan district would receive about $700 in state and county aid per year should it close the school. This sum was argued, would pay tuition costs and transportation to Manawa, and save the district the sum of approximately $400 which it raises each year by local school tax. The expected saving would be cut materially, however, by a motion introduced by Mr. Feathers, passed by those present at the meeting, which would require insurance for each child up to $15,000 against accident while being transported in case the school was closed.

There is now a bill before the legislature making compulsory the closing of any rural school having less than ten pupils. The students would be transported elsewhere.

Music Festival to be Presented at Medina

Medina—There will be band practice Thursday evening at the school under the direction of M. A. Herbers of Appleton.

A music festival is being planned for April 23. It is to be given by the school children under the direction of Miss Carolyn Short, superintendent of rural school music.

Mrs. J. J. Laurin entertained the members of Hearts club Tuesday afternoon, high scores being made by Mrs. Ted Steudel, Mrs. Anton Hoffmann and Mrs. Luke Owens. The club will meet next with Mrs. Elva Steudel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bloomer have moved from the Siegrist home on Baldwin street, to the upper apartment in the George Horst home on Madison street.

Suffers Slight Injury In Auto-Truck Crash

Manawa—A collision at the always dangerous intersection of State Highways 22 and 161 and County Highway F three miles north of Manawa occurred again Wednesday noon.

The William Gobb milk truck occupied by Russell Alish and John Breier, driven by the former, collided with a car, occupied by Mrs. Simon Jennings, and Miss Laura Zemple, and driven by Mrs. Jennings. Both the truck and car were badly damaged, but only Miss Zemple suffered slight injuries.

The Gobb truck traveling east on Highway 161 was taking a full load of about 6000 pounds of fluid milk to the Borden plant at Clintonville. The Temple car was headed south towards Manawa on County Trunk F. When the collision occurred the automobile turned completely over and landed at the side of the road with all four wheels in the air. The truck remained upright.

Mrs. Ouellette to Retain Her Office

Reelected Chief Ranger of Holy Name Court of At Kimberly

Kimberly—Mrs. B. J. Ouellette was reelected chief ranger of the Holy Name court of the Women's Catholic Order of Foresters at a meeting at the clubhouse Thursday evening. Labor Should Beware of These Sit-Down Strikes

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

Washington—The sit-down strike is a communist device but the communists surely can't be very bright because every sit-down in this country brings fascism just that much closer. Fascism is what happens when the people of a nationalistic country get sick and tired of the lawless goings-on of a very small minority under the guidance of communist organizers and decide to crash through a few laws themselves to abolish the nuisance at the sacrifice of everyone's freedom. Then there are a lot of fights, the vigilantes throw the fear of God into the whole community with promiscuous executions and cloutings and some wild-eyed nut in a lion-tamer's uniform moves into office as dictator, babbling weird nonsense which everyone is required to believe under heavy penalties for dissent. I don't know who our nut would be because he hasn't put his head up yet but we produce plenty of nuts with the killer instinct and ours would come along, attended by his gang.

This is a nationalistic country with no feeling of sympathy for or solidarity with the Russians or the so-called loyalists of Spain. This country has troubles of its own and was thoroughly cured of altruism toward the people of other countries a long time back, beside which the people are religious after a fashion and communism means atheism, church-burning and sacrilege. This religious feeling may not be very intelligent but it is in the character of the majority of the people, whether they go to church or not, as the Ku Klux demonstrated in recent times.

The Ku Klux drove a lot of otherwise harmless amiable people near crazy with the most preposterous lies and had them of a mind to grab the old musket off the wall to strike for their altars and their young ones. If that many Americans could be stirred up that badly over strictly imaginary dangers rigged up by a gang of commercial promoters and ignorant preachers, what would the people do if they should see the sit-down develop into a general paralysis of business, convinced that all this represented a foul plot by Moscow? Not Many Actual Communists

I don't suppose there are many actual communists among the sit-down strikers. Some of the strikers have seemed rather frivolous, with the men and women clowning it for balcony pictures and conducting a dangerous business in the picnic spirit. Others are very grim and will remain to fight somewhat but want to winning hundred per cent and not become communists, for the very word means Russian to most Americans. But the method of the sit-down and the aggressive persistence of this movement gives it a distinctly imported appearance and, argue as you may on the fine points, Americans will lick communism if they have to wreck the democracy to remain American.

It is rather strange that some of our statesmen and philosophers are only now beginning to realize that the sit-down is against the law and to entertain the notion that, after all, the law, whatever its imperfections, ought to be respected until we get some better ones. And inasmuch as the better ones or, anyway, more expedient laws, can be had for the asking under Mr. Roosevelt's supreme court plan, all this is very fine for the plan. But the lawlessness of the sit-down was apparent in Flint and there was then a disposition to rock along and look out of the window in the hope that the matter would be adjusted without a resort to law. Now that example has led to an epidemic of sit-downs. And now, with the principles unchanged but with the problem much enlarged, our best minds perceive something that was obvious way back when.

Card Party Is Given At Leeman Residence

Leeman—Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Allen entertained a group of friends at cards Wednesday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. William Schinke and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Ames, Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Greely, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Larsen, Mr. and Mrs. William Spaulding, Mr. and Mrs. Nels Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Corby, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Leeman, Mrs. Flora Leeman, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Thede and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boody. Prizes won by S. F. Greely, men's high, and Nels Nelson, low; Mrs. Leroy Thede, women's high, and Mrs. William Schinke, low.

Mrs. F. R. Falk entertained the Lutheran Ladies Aid society at her home on Thursday afternoon. The Rev. A. Blom conducted the devotional services. Hymns were sung and the afternoon was spent socially. The 5 o'clock supper was well attended.

Several local residents attended funeral services held at the Lutheran church in Navarino Thursday afternoon for Alex Simon, 63, who died at his home at Galesburg after a lingering illness. Mr. Simon was formerly a resident of Leeman, Elmer Berglund and son John of Marquette, Mich., were visitors at the Fred Falk home and with other relatives and friends in the vicinity this week.

Quality Food Market	19 50 .273

Kaukauna—By virtue of a 3-game victory over the Quality Food Market, the Shady Lawn Dairy jumped into the lead of the Ladies Bowling league this week at Schnell alleys. The Caldie Beauty Shop, tied with the Shady Lawn at the end of last week's bowling, slipped into second place as they won two but lost one to the Gertz Tavern team.

Ebel Egan's 47 series on games of 141, 162, and 144 was the best performance turned in by the Dairy team. Mrs. Charles Schell rolled a 414 on scores of 130, 146, and 138 to head the Quality five.

Mrs. M. Luessen rapped the pins for the highest series of the evening, a 324, built on games of 154, 170 and 170 to the Caldies of 154, 170 and 170. The Caldies lost their two games from the Gertz ladies. Marie Biese's 419 series on scores of 125, 132 and 162 topped the individual efforts of the Gertz team.

Although her Fargo team lost two games to the Leone Beauty Shop, the last by only one point, Mrs. L. Ryan's 472 series was the highest of the match and her first game, a 197, led off the evening. Her other games were 126 and 149. Her teammate, Mrs. Ben Goldin, hit a 422 series. Charlotte Mayer's 431 series was tops for the Leone ladies. She chalked up games of 157, 140 and 134.

Joyce Peterson led the Weyenberg's Meats to a 2-game victory over the Business and Professional Women as she won down games of 179, 136 and 125 for a series of 437. Alma Renna's scoring sheet showed a 454 series on games of 156, 170 and 128 for the B. and P. W. team.

$311 Profit on Cage Tournament
Total Receipts $1,551
While Expenses Were $992

Kaukauna—The high school realized a profit of $311.28 from the tournament held here last week. A financial report submitted to the athletic council this week shows.

The report, drawn up by Principal Olin C. Dryer, tournament manager, places the total receipts at $1,551.60 and total expenses at $992.04.

As its share of the profits, the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association will be paid $311.28, the same as the high school. Added to this, however, is an item of $77.36, five per cent of the total receipts, which makes the association's share $388.65.

Advance sale of tickets brought in $538. The attendance and receipts of the four nights is reported as follows: Wednesday, 669, $132.10; Thursday, 934, $292.25; Friday, 1023, $283.80; Saturday, 1068, $253.45. A total of 3,783 paid admissions are recorded in the report.

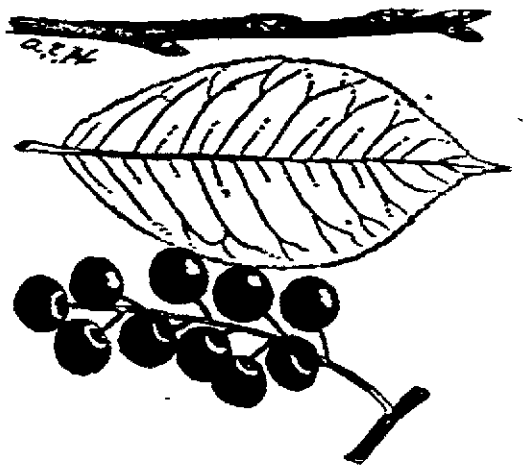

Included in the expenses of the tournament was $23.65 for meals for the seven outside teams and $327.20 for their transportation.

Choose Members of Cast for 4-H Play
Kaukauna—The members of the cast for a one-act play which will be presented by the Kau-Free 4-H club was chosen at a meeting this week at Sunny Corner school. They are as follows: Earl Krueger, Vernon Sweet, Raphael Romanesko, Norbert Heindl, Lillian Danil, Marian Van Vreede, and Mary Heindl. The first practice was held after the meeting.

The three boys of the Kau-Free 4-H club who have decided to raise calves this spring met at the home of Emil Krueger this week. The young stock raisers are Earl Krueger, Norbert Heindl, and Raphael Romanesko. They will get their calves from the Outagamie County Breeders' association and will pay for them after they are sold at a public auction next fall.

Native Wisconsin Trees

Conservation Commission Tells How to Identify Them, Discusses Their Value to State

CHOKECHERRY

The chokecherry is distributed over the entire state on a wide variety of soils, in open woods and along roads and fences.

It is a small tree seldom exceeding 25 feet in height and 8 inches in diameter.

The leaves are alternate, simple, 2 to 4 inches long, abruptly pointed at apex, sharply serrate on margin and slender, teeth, dull green above, paler beneath.

The flowers appear in May when the leaves are half grown, perfect, about 1/4 inch across, born in many-flowered drooping racemes to 6 inches long. The fruit is the size of a pea, red to almost black, with dark red flesh, astringent but edible.

The bark on young trees is smooth, shiny, brownish, peeling off in thin film-like layers, becoming thicker, dark grayish, with shallow fissures. The inner bark has a very disagreeable odor.

The wood is similar to that of the black cherry, but heavier, and is not of commercial importance.

The tree is too small for timber and is not desirable as an ornamental tree, as the falling fruit discolors walks or anything it is crushed against. It is interesting as the most widely distributed tree in North America, extending from the Arctic Circle to Mexico and from the Atlantic to the Rockies.

Churches at Kaukauna Plan Special Services To Observe Holy Week

Kaukauna—Churches of this city will hold special services during holy week which starts with Palm Sunday tomorrow and ends on Easter Sunday, March 28.

The First Congregational church will hold its holy week services at 1:30 on Good Friday afternoon when a communion service will be conducted by the Rev. G. C. Saunders.

Half hour at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening will open holy week services at St. Mary's Catholic church. The Rev. A. Roder has reported that a sermon will be delivered and benediction of the blessed sacrament will be conducted.

On Maundy Thursday the institution of the holy eucharist will be commemorated with holy mass opening at 8 o'clock in the morning. Adoration of the blessed sacrament will be conducted during the entire day, ending with a sermon at 7:30 in the evening.

Services At Noon
Services will begin at noon on Good Friday with the reading of lessons. Following prayers and the adoration of the cross, a sermon will be preached. This service will last until 3 o'clock in the afternoon to commemorate the three hours the Son of Man hung on the cross.

On Holy Saturday mass begins at 8 o'clock. There will be the blessing of the new fire and the Easter candle and the reading of the 12 prophecies. The service will conclude with the Resurrection mass.

Palm Sunday services at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church will open at 8:30 tomorrow morning with Sunday school. The English service will be held at 9:15 and the German at 10:30. German service with confessional and holy communion will be held on Maundy Thursday at 7:30 in the evening. On Good Friday the German service will be held at 10 o'clock in the morning and the English at 7:30 in the evening. Announcements for both communion services will be received in the church sacristy Tuesday from 1 o'clock to 5:30 in the afternoon and from 6:30 to 8 o'clock in the evening.

Plan Reception
At the Brook Memorial Methodist church, a communion service will be held Thursday evening at 7:30 and also a reception for new members. The service on Good Friday will be held at 7:30 in the evening with a sermon "The Crucifixion of Our Lord."

Holy week observances in the Holy Cross Catholic church will open with the usual Our Mother of Perpetual Help service on Tuesday. High mass will be celebrated in the morning and will be followed by the blessed sacrament which will be held throughout the day.

There will be Good Friday services at 8 o'clock in the morning and from noon to 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The A. T. Ore. commemorating the three hour agony of the Lord. The services on Holy Saturday begins at 7 o'clock in the morning. High mass will be held an hour later.

The Rev. John Scheib has announced that the holy week service at the Immanuel, Evangelical, and German church will be held on Good Friday at 7:30 in the evening.

AN ACCIDENT CONNOISSEUR
Columbus, O. (AP)—When Miss Catherine Court pulled herself out of the bottom of a state office building elevator shaft the other day she said it was the best elevator accident I've ever been in. She spoke with authority, too, because it happened to be the sixth elevator accident she has experienced. Fortunately, no one was injured in this mishap.

TWINS 'BEAN' SQUIRRELS
Weatherford, Okla. (AP)—As good with old-fashioned "bean shooters" as most men are with rifles are Clint and Clell Weese, 24-year-old twins. Each can knock down a squirrel or jackrabbit at 40 paces, friends say.

Plan Organization of Junior Conservation Club
Kaukauna—A tree planting program which will be conducted by a Junior Conservation club will be launched this spring, it was decided at a meeting of the Kaukauna Conservators on club in the council chambers of the Municipal building last night.

Working in cooperation with the men's club, the junior group will have Harvey Mau and Arthur Sager as its advisers and will be organized immediately so that members will be ready to start planting the trees when they are sent here by the Wisconsin Conservation Commission. There will be membership fee for joining the Junior Conservation club.

The men's club voted at its meeting last night to apply to the state conservation commission for 500 day-old pheasant chicks which will be raised by members of the organization. When the chicks are six weeks old, they will be released in the game preserves near the city.

The club decided that it will stock the pond near the old quarry with fish and that the quarry will be seeded of all rough fish which it may contain.

A report of the membership drive now being carried on will be made at the next meeting of the club in the council rooms Monday, March 22.

Boy Scouts to Make Hike to Red Banks

Kaukauna—Boy Scouts of troop 31 will meet at the home of Thomas Bauer at 9:30 tomorrow morning and from there hike out to the Red Banks.

Tests in both first and second class will be passed. The following Scouts will pass cooking tests: Tom McCarty, Thomas Bauer, Mark Romanesko, Charles Wagner, first class; Norbert Yingling, Orville Vanervenoven, Jack Sianagan, James Mulholland, second class.

Bill Van Lieshout will pass nature study and C. Wagner and Robert Wodjenski judging. Tom McCarty and Leland Sherer will attempt to build their fire without matches.

The camping position during the hike will be plotted by Clifford Kalista and Jack Kerk who will march ahead of the troop and select the most suitable location.

Concert Planned At Clintonville

Public Program to be Presented in High School Auditorium

Clintonville—A public concert will be given at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the high school auditorium by the music department of the Clintonville high school.

The students participating in the local event will also take part in the district music tournament to be held at West DePere in May. The program follows:

Solo, "Springtime," by Carrington—Phyllis Bednarski.

Summer Time's Coming," by Partridge, "A Song to Sing," by Sullivan and "Mighty Like a Rose" by Nevin—third and fourth grade chorus.

"A Pledge," German folk tune "The Carnival of Venice," "Winter's Lullaby," by Fears—Shirley Haskins and Emil Stubbenvoll.

"Spring's Coming," by Mozart—fifth and sixth grade chorus.

"The Rosary," by Nevin, and "On the Shore," by Neidinger—Beverly Winchester.

"A Merry Life," by Denza, and "Now the Day Is Over," by Barnby—sixth, seventh and eighth grade chorus.

"Land of Our Hearts," by Chadwick, "Around the Gypsy Fire," by Brahms, and "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by Dvorak—high school girls' glee club.

"Break O' Day," by Sanderson, and "Brown Bird Singing," by Wood—Betty Spiegel.

"Passing By," by Purcell, "Sea Fever," by Andrews, and "Sophomore Philosophy," by Dvorak—high school boys' glee club.

"Danny Boy," by Weatherly, and "Stay In Your Own Back Yard," by Sall—high school girls' trio.

Betty Spiegel, Beverly Winchester, and Betty Brown.

"Flower of Dreams," by Clokey, and "How Sweet the Answer Echo Makes," by Kriens—high school girls' glee club.

"Night Song," by Lemare, "My Lady Chloee," by Clough-Leigher, and "On the Road to Mandalay," by Speaks—Bliss—high school boys' glee club.

"Come to the Fair," by Martin and "Today There is Ringing," by Christianson—high school mixed chorus.

The piano accompanists for the various vocal groups are Elizabeth Stubbenvoll, Carmen Campbell and DuWayne Schmidt.

About sixty members and visitors attended the "guest day" meeting of the Methodist Ladies guild Thursday afternoon at the church parlors. The program included a piano solo by Mrs. Donald Olen; reading of an Easter story by Mrs. E. C. Walsh; and a book review on "Van and Van" written by Alice Hobart Teasdale, given by Mrs. W. T. Luedke. Plans were made during the business session for a party to be given for members of the choir and the Sunday school teachers at the social rooms of the church on Thursday evening, April 1.

A "white elephant" sale was also conducted by the Guild members and the afternoon concluded with the serving of a luncheon by Mesdames S. H. Sanford, James Smiley, William Shaveler and M. O. Stockland.

Methodist Ladies Aid society will meet at the church parlors on Wednesday afternoon, March 24, instead of on Thursday which is the regular meeting day. The hostess committee will include Mesdames William Wega, Anna Plopper, Cora Fisher and Clara Hoskins.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wega were their daughter, Miss Dorothy Wega and

Monetary Devices Fail to Control Price Movements

Lawrence Believes New Deal Discarding Theory Of Manipulation

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Washington—It isn't often in the history of a big and powerful nation that a major fallacy is confirmed within a short space of four years. But today—indeed, within the past week—there has come from a government agency of the New Deal, namely the federal reserve board, a frank confession that prices cannot be controlled by monetary devices.

The importance of this admission will be noted when it is recalled that, throughout the New Deal administration, everybody, including the president himself, stated that the purpose of devaluation of the dollar was to send prices up to somewhere around the 1926 level.

For weeks and weeks in 1933 and 1934, the big goal was the 1926 level. It was assumed that 1926 prices represented normal and that gold devaluation would force prices to that point once more.

But what has happened? This very week, the index maintained by the federal government, covering an average of 700 commodities, shows that we have reached only 87 per cent of the 1926 level. In the same week comes a statement from the governor of the federal reserve board that prices are running away and that monetary devices cannot help keep them down.

Now Discarding Theory
From some points of view, this might mean that the New Deal is getting ready to answer those critics who will say that, if the devaluation of the dollar sends the price level up too high, then, by the same process of reasoning, a revaluation of the dollar the other way will hold the price level down.

But it is apparent that the New Deal now is discarding the very theory of monetary manipulation which was the cardinal point of its 1933 and 1934 policy. Today, the goal is plainly to stabilize prices in terms of gold throughout the world, and many officials here recognize it.

But they are afraid to advocate tinkering with the dollar any more. They believe such a policy would mean instability.

It is insisted also that the pound and the dollar are now in a very good ratio, something, however, that some British experts dispute, for they are credited with saying that the pound ought to go lower in terms of the dollar.

Price Arbitrary
In any event, the selection of $35 an ounce for the price of gold was an arbitrary guess upon the part of our monetary authorities. A fixed price for gold in a world as unsettled as that which faces us on every side today is a difficult thing to defend, except on physiological grounds. But with all the world's selling gold to America at $35 an ounce, and with world production of gold rapidly increasing, it is no wonder that the treasury is talking about "hot money" from abroad.

The foreigners are sending gold into the United States as fast as they can mine it and they are getting thirty-five American dollars in exchange and they promptly proceed to buy equities in American companies and keep the claim checks for the future.

If gold is revalued downward, of course, many of these foreigners will have a handsome profit. But the fact remains that the profits to these foreign buyers are relatively small compared to the damage that may be done by the continued willingness of the United States to buy at $35 an ounce all the gold that can be furnished. The treasury was in somewhat the same position with respect to silver, and now many millions of ounces of silver have been dumped in America which cannot possibly have a use in our country.

Hugh Bean of Oshkosh, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Coleman and son Everett of Manawa.

Mrs. William Hanson of Algoma, formerly of this city, visited Thursday and Friday with relatives and friends here. She was accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Erwin Lorey, also of Algoma, who was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Smith.

monetary system commensurate with the quality being stored up. The one offsetting advantage, however, where silver is concerned, is that the United States does not have to buy all the silver the world produces, but only a certain quantity and only over a long period of time. Today, as gold is offered, however, the United States government is committed to buy from all comers at $35 an ounce, no matter if the world supply has increased to the point where, applying the law of supply and demand, the price of gold should logically go down.

Advocate Limit
All sorts of suggestions are being made as to restricting the purchase of gold at $35 only to metal mined within the United States and letting the price outside the United States find its natural level. Governor Eccles' statement this week would seem to indicate that these devices have been, for the moment at least, pushed aside. The federal reserve board spokesman would rather instead see price control achieved through other legislative methods. But the fact remains that, while in 1933, devaluation of the gold content of the American dollar was held forth as a great panacea and as a means of bringing back 1926 prices, today danger signals are hoisted on the theory that, in effect, a 1926 price level would be menacing to the cost of living and the whole economic structure.

SEES INCREASE
Des Moines, Ia.—(AP)—B. H. Hibbard, University of Wisconsin economist, told a group of farm owners here he believed the recent small gain in the number of owner-operated farms in some sections of the country is "only incidental and temporary."

His theory is that the farm owners have moved back from town to the country because their usual dollar lord's income has been depleted. He thinks that with better times they will be looking for tenants again.

any way as she had some shopping to do, she said, so she promised to meet him for lunch. To tell the truth, I was rather pleased about it. You don't know Philip, do you, dear?"

"No," answered Bigelow. "I thought you might have met in Paris. Well, you must meet soon. His mother and I were at school together, and I have always hoped that Philip and Anne would make a match of it. Of course I know one always makes these plans for one's children and they very seldom come off, and one doesn't help matters at all by attempting any sort of suggestion, but I did venture to say to Anne this morning that if she were to announce her engagement now, it would put an end to all this gossip about her and Vronski."

"What did Anne say to that?" asked Bigelow, carelessly.

"She agreed with me," answered Mrs. Phelps. "But I don't know that that means anything because she does sometimes agree with me just to avoid argument."

Through the greater part of lunch the old lady rambled on telling him about Philip Whiteclaw—about the time he and Anne were becalmed in his small sailing yacht at the Cape; about the time he had had the motor accident when he was staying with them in Florida; and Anne had been so clever about the trolley that had saved his life, practically; and about the time Anne's horse had lost a shoe in Mexico and she had to get off and walk him, and they all thought she'd been abducted by bandits because she didn't come back, and how Philip gathered together a posse to rescue her.

Put Out Chimney Fire
At Hortonville Home

Hortonville—The Hortonville fire company answered a call to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Manier in the town of Ellington Friday evening. A chimney fire was in progress. The smoke could not escape through the chimney and it went into the house. The chimney was cracked from the fire. The firemen cleaned the chimney.

Hortonville High school presented the opera, "The Gypsy Boy," to a packed opera house Friday evening. The proceeds will pay for the new public school band uniforms which are expected to be here soon.

You're playing a trick on yourself and on your pocketbook too, if you neglect to buy at the now prevailing low pre-strike prices.

NEW CAR STRIKES BRING USED CAR SHORTAGE Dealers Anticipate Price Increase

TRADE YOUR TROUBLE

for Comfort and Satisfaction

Nothing is more disgusting or costly than a hard starting, oil consuming, drafty car that has seen its best days . . .

YOU CAN BUY A BETTER USED CAR AT A LOWER PRICE TODAY!

Here Are Five Intelligent Questions And Answers That The Smart Used Car Buyer Should Heed

1. Q.—Will the automobile strikes cause a shortage of good used cars?
A.—Yes. The number of trade-ins or used cars a dealer has in stock is usually regulated by the sales of the new models. It is natural then to assume that if there are not any new models available, the dealer's stock of used cars will soon become depleted.

2. Q.—Will the used car be sold for a higher price in the event of a shortage?
A.—Yes. Without a doubt, remember that the dealer must still pay his overhead expenses, minus the revenue he formerly received from new car sales. Consequently, the used car must carry the burden of this means but one thing—higher used car prices.

3. Q.—Can I purchase a used car today at the low pre-strike prices?
A.—Yes. Emphatically so. The dealer naturally would sell for less now, rather than incur the cost of "carrying" and storing cars for longer.

4. Q.—Suppose that the strikes are settled quickly. Will the used car buyer who purchased on the strength of a shortage and increased prices, really have gained anything?
A.—Yes. The person who buys a used car now can be assured that he got the most for his dollar. New car prices are certain to be higher and will reflect on the used car market accordingly. Last but not least, it is important to remember that the used car purchased now will have suffered no hardships of a rigorous winter's driving.

5. Q.—Will there be a noticeable shortage of late model used cars if the automobile strikes continue?
A.—Yes. Definitely so. The new car buyer cannot get delivery and may not be able to for some time to come. He naturally becomes a potential prospect for a late model used car. Dealers have anticipated this and even now clean, late model, used cars are being displayed instead of the new models.

New London and Shawano Battle Tonight for Class B Crown

NEW LONDON REGIONAL BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT LAST NIGHT'S SCORES
Marion 33, Lena 18.
Sevastopol 24, Seymour 19.

TONIGHT'S GAMES
7:30—Lena versus Seymour.
8:30—Marion versus Sevastopol (Class C title).
9:30—Shawano versus New London (Class B title).

BY GORDON MCINTYRE
NEW LONDON.—Marion High school basketball, fairly shouting class in every move, last night walloped Lena High school in Class C regional play here and became a heavy favorite to down Sevastopol tonight and earn the right to enter state play at Madison March 31 to April 3. The score was 33 to 18.

Sevastopol won the other game by a 24 to 19 margin over Seymour, but neither team showed class enough to be much opposition for Marion. It was a case of the winner working its head off just to be offered up as a sacrifice to the fast-traveling Purgold outfit this evening.

Tonight's program will show last night's losers, Lena and Seymour, battling for third place at 7:30. At 8:30 Marion will see how many points it can run up on Sevastopol and at 9:30 the feature game of the evening will get started. New London versus Shawano for the regional Class B title and the right to go to Madison.

See Sellout Tonight
Last night's games were staged before a very respectable crowd; tonight's games will go on before a jammed house. Marion probably will close up the town and treke here to see its pride annex another game while the New London-Shawano game will attract every cage follower in the two cities. Reserved seats all have been sold but there are about 1,000 general admission seats available.

Shawano won the Oconto district title with a win over Marinette. New London defeated Menasha to take the Kaukauna district tournament. In conference games this year New London dropped two 1-point games to the Indians, the conference champions.

Last night's program opened with Marion and Lena on the floor. The Purgolds were as flitters as a kid saying his first "piece" and when Lena counted four points while Marion was going scoreless, it appeared the Purgolds might be in for a battle.

Marion was handling the ball fairly well during the period but couldn't click until Meyer scored on a fast break and Wulk dumped another shot to even the score at 4-4. Marion then added a free throw and Wulk took a pass from a mate for a shot on a fast break and the quarter ended with Marion leading, 7 to 4.

In the second quarter Marion dominated play so much there might just as well have been no other team on the floor. It held Lena scoreless while Daler, Meyer, Elandt and Wulk all tallied. The Purgolds went to the dressing room with a 16 to 4 lead.

Lead 27 to 11
When play resumed in the third period Marion started just where it had left off in the second and continued to pile up points behind a smooth-passing attack that screeched class. The third quarter ended 27 to 11 for the Purgolds and even when the reserves were being tossed into the contest the team still was good enough to count a far number of points and win easily. Lena was literally run ragged trying to stop the thrush and in his wild attempts turned in 17 personal fouls. Marion, of course, made the most of them.

All of the Marion regulars except Borchert figured in the scoring. Wulk led the way with 17 points while Meyer had 8. R. Dionne paced Lena with five.

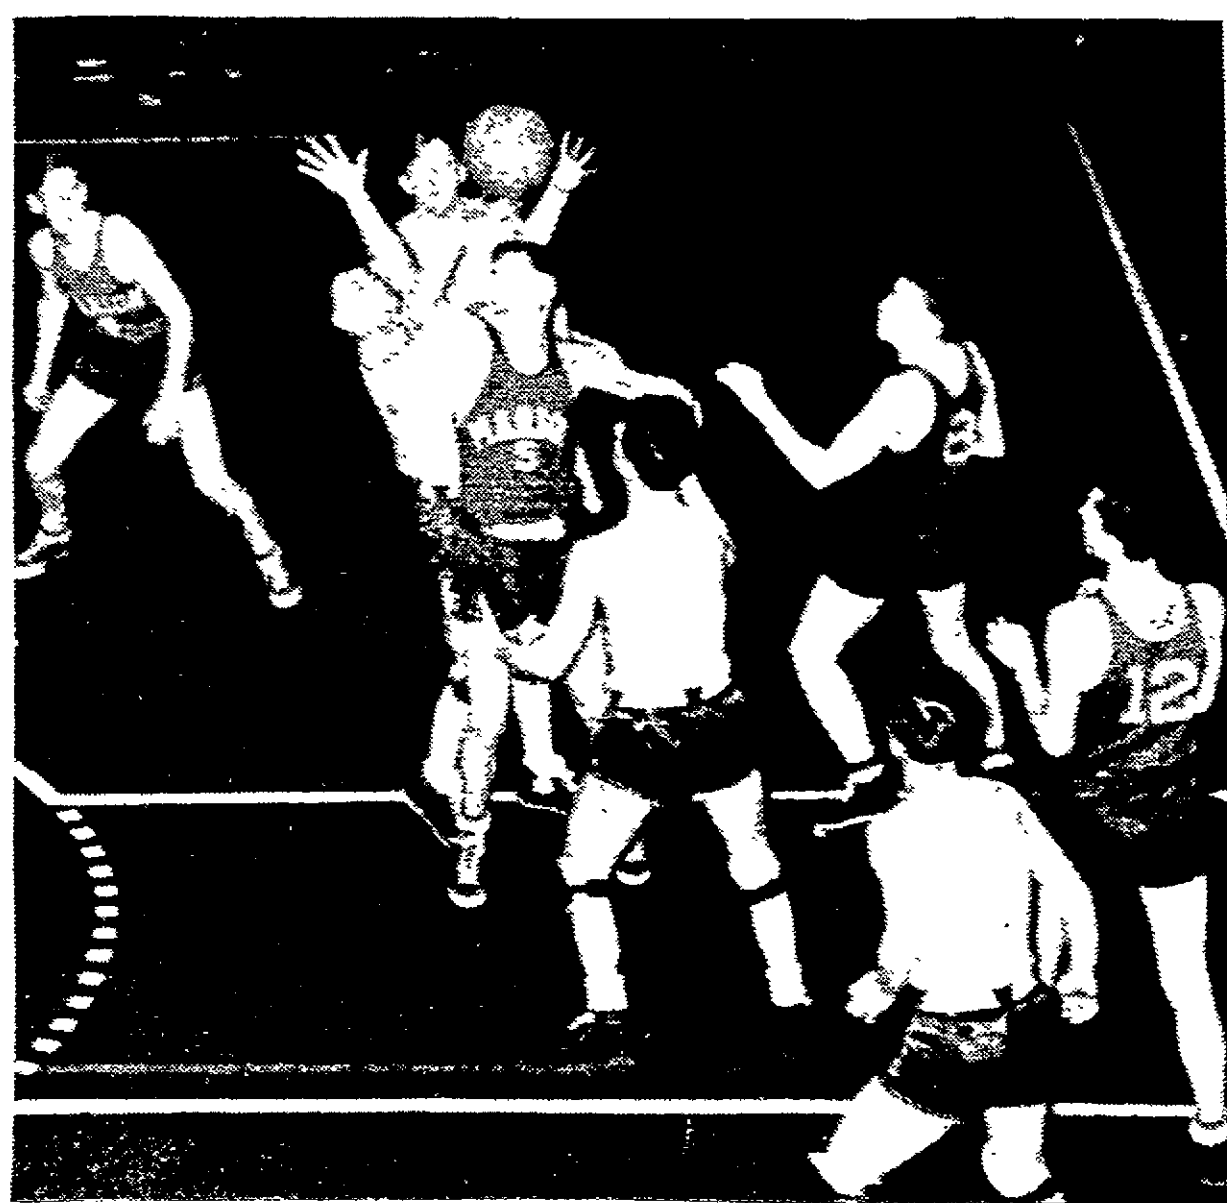

Seymour had a bad, very bad night in regard to Sevastopol. The Little Nine champs apparently had been waiting to meet Marion Saturday night and had not taken Sevastopol seriously. When the squad from De Pere County turned in a fast dozen sensational, they scored and took a 12 to 2 lead in the first quarter. Seymour went to pieces and never regained its stride.

Playing in the second quarter was a bit more even but that first quarter lead still remained in the way and Sevastopol went to the dressing room with an 18 to 7 lead.

The third quarter saw Seymour score first when Oshkosh tossed a basket and saw the club move its defense out so that DePere's defense forward couldn't lose his long shot. However, the Seymour youths continued playing individually instead of working the ball around for close shots. The few times that someone did get a set-up toss he invariably blew, sometimes because he was too deliberate and other times because he was taking a wild heave at the board. There just wasn't any halfway mark.

Sevastopol Tires
During the third stanza Seymour outscored a fast-traveling Sevastopol team which was turning in fouls in the fatigue. The quarter ended 22 to 14 for Seymour, the peninsula team getting four points and Seymour seven.

Sevastopol was badly "bushed" in the fourth period with no reserves to relieve the regulars and although free throws and a basket by Foote brought Seymour within four points of tying the score, 22 to

MARION WALLOPS LENA AT REGIONAL CAGE MEET

Marion High school basketball team walloped Lena, 33 to 18, last night in the opening game of the New London regional tournament. It's True; Dizzy Finally Is Signed

Dean Ready to Work Although 18 Pounds Overweight

Daytona Beach, Fla.—(P)—Jerome Herman Dean, self-styled "number one holdout of the 1937 season," was back in the St. Louis Cardinal fold today—his signature on a contract believed to be worth $25,000.

Whether Dizzy had the better of his annual joust with the Cardinals was doubtful, but the talkative pitcher did manage to hold the suspense until the minute he picked up a pen to sign.

Then a hatch developed. Breardon and Dean came out of a room with the laconic statement: "It's all off."

Breardon, Dean said, wanted him to promise not to heckle his teammates, to mind his own business and to obey without question Manager Frankie Frisch's instructions.

"I asked him why he wanted me to make such a promise," said Dean in an aggrieved tone. "I never have heckled the other Cardinals. I always go out and let Frankie order."

Dean was ready to start work today. He had been out of the Cardinals' camp for a week.

Red Sox are High-Priced Car With Bum Sparkplug

BY PAUL MICKELSON
ARIZONA, Fla.—(P)—Give the gold-plated Boston Red Sox one Blondy Ryan or a Joe DiMaggio and they might set the American league prairie on fire this summer.

Laden with all-star talent, Tom Yawkey's disappointment of 1936 need not one good, husky rookie to lift them into a championship contender. The team resembles a high-priced car with a bum sparkplug.

Manager Joe Cronin hopes one of three first-look rookies may do the trick. They are Bobby Doerr, 19-year-old second baseman who dazzled the Pacific coast league with his superb fielding and 342-hitting for San Diego last season. 22-year-old Dominic Dilessandro, hustling outfielder from Reading, Pa., and Buster Mills, outfielder from Rochester who failed to make the big league grade with Cleveland, St. Louis Cardinals and Brooklyn.

So promising are Mills and Dilessandro that only Roger Cramer seems assured of an outfield berth. Mel Alameda and four new outfielders are in the fight for the other two positions. With Mills and Dilessandro favored to win out because of their batting punch.

Except for himself, Cronin is set in the infield. He has a better looking Jimmy Foss as first, Eric McNair at short and Pinky Higgins, purchased last winter from the Philadelphia Athletics, on third. Cronin may start at second to utilize his own hitting unless young Doerr develops fast. Oscar Melillo and Jack Kroner will be the infield reserves.

Several Catchers
Rick Ferrell will be chief backstop again with Moo Berg chief second unless Johnny Peacock, the free agent backstop from Nashville, or Eugene DeSaulniers, formerly with Detroit, can beat them out.

The Red Sox will depend on Lefty Grove and Wesley Ferrell as their pitching mainstays. Johnny Sauer, scion of a sore arm and bad toss, is the big left-hander. So is Fred Ostermiller, Jack Wilson, 34-year-old right-hander, will be counted as a regular, with the veteran Ruben Waddell for spot pitching.

Although the Red Sox should have three veteran southpaws in Grove, Ostermiller and Waddell, Archie McNair, a big left-hander with experience from Minneapolis, where he won 19 games, also may be used.

A different spirit is prevalent in the Red Sox camp this spring. Unlike a year ago, they are hustling now.

Irregular Trend Marks Trade on Stock Exchange

Some Steels, Rails and Specialties Record Slight Advances

Compiled by the Associated Press
The stock market showed an irregular trend today, with some gains in steel, rail and specialty stocks, but a general decline in other sectors. The Dow Jones Industrial Average closed at 157.12, down from 157.50 yesterday.

BY VICTOR EUBANK
New York — Stocks shifted from one foot to the other in a few minutes' time, and, except for a few steel, rail and specialty stocks, made little or no progress.

In addition to nervousness over the labor outlook, another break in U. S. government securities tended to keep many traders in the safety zones.

Dealings were slow from the start. Transfers for the two-hour period were around 600,000 shares.

Helpful to the steelers were estimates mill activities in the Pittsburgh district next week will start at 93 per cent of capacity, up three points at a new post-depression peak.

Bethlehem ran up more than 2 points at the bar, notwithstanding plans of the Lewis unions to start an organization drive in its plants.

U. S. Steel, Crucible and Republic, while far from buoyant, were a bit ahead most of the time.

Bonds were mixed, as were the major commodities.

Tilting forward during the greater part of the session were Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Great Northern, Baltimore and Ohio, Illinois Central, International Paper, Remington Rand, Seaboard Oil, Texas Corp., Western Union, Consolidated Edison, Electric Power and Light, General Electric, U. S. Rubber and Boeing.

Backward were J. I. Case, Deere, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, St. Joseph Lead, Standard Oil of N. J., Westchester, General Electric, DuPont, Allied Chemical, Southern Railway and Southern Pacific.

Downward Trend In Hog Dealings

Cattle Quotations Higher Compared With Last Week's Prices

Chicago — (P) — The hog market turned back after the opening today, with declines reaching as much as 10 cents in some classes.

All grades of cattle were higher in comparison with last week's prices, though medium weights and heavies lost a considerable portion of this week's gain.

Fat lambs lost as much as 25 cents during the week, the top falling to $12.40 at the close compared with $13.25 during the early part of the week.

Wheat Sharply Higher During Half-Day Trade

Importing Nations May Have to Depend Largely On North America

Chicago — (P) — Wheat prices soared almost 3 cents a bushel here today, influenced, traders said, by indications that wheat importing nations soon will be forced to depend largely on North America for supplies.

List Natural Disasters Occurring in Last Year

Washington, D. C. — "One of the most spectacular of the world's natural disasters of 1936 was a fall of rock into cliff-crimmed Long Lake, Norway, which threw up a 300-foot flood wave that wiped out two villages," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society.

"Most devastating disaster of the year was the spring famine in the Szechwan and Honan Provinces of China, in which thirty million people faced starvation. This was an added blow to a country which, since 1920, has been prostrated by sixty-eight floods and famines.

"The United States had its share of misfortunes with drought, fires, floods, and tornadoes. In summer the most serious drought in the country's history for scores of years parched the northwest and central states, burning up wheat and other crops and killing cattle. The accompanying prolonged heat wave of approximately 100 degrees, which also assailed the eastern states, took the lives of more than 4,000 people.

"In August and September forest fires devoured thousands of dry acres in Minnesota, Wisconsin, California, and southwest Oregon.

"East Deluged
"Although the west suffered for lack of water in summer, the spring was deluged with rain. In April, March floods ravaged thirteen eastern states, destroying millions of dollars worth of property, and 160 lives. Johnstown, Pennsylvania, paralyzed by an eight-foot flood, recalled its famous disaster of 1889 in western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia. A blizzard increased suffering of the homeless.

"Floods inundated southern England and France in January, and Luzon Island in the Philippines in December.

"On November 28, the dam of a copper mine reservoir in Japan collapsed, and at least 300 people were killed by the released poisonous water.

Government Bonds Again Face Selling

New York — (P) — Another selling movement in U. S. government bonds brought further sharp losses in treasury and guaranteed issues today.

By the end of the first hour declines ranged from 4-32nds to 21-32nds of a point, leaving values at the lowest levels for 1937.

Selling again was accompanied by reports institutional holders were lightening portfolios in preparation for a gradual rise in money rates.

A few low yield corporate issues slid off with the federal's, and most speculative ratings were inclined to sag in absence of support from the share list.

The relatively few issues which managed to work a little higher against the down trend included American and Foreign Power 5s, Allegheny Corp 5s and Youngstown Sheet 3 1/2s. The last named climbed about 2 points.

Prepare Abbey For Coronation Of King George

Historic Church of Kings
And Poets Now Closed
To Public

Washington, D. C. — Westminster Abbey, London's historic church of kings and poets, is now closed to the public to prepare for the coronation of George VI in May.

The only part now open for services is the small Chapel of St. Faith, at the southern end of the South Transept, which is usually reserved for private devotions.

"As early as last summer craftsmen were renovating the organ," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society, "and worshippers missed its impressive booming tones as they sang hymns to the thin notes of a piano. At that time, American sightseers, with whom the Abbey is among London's most popular sights, found canvas and scaffolding blocking their views of famous monuments. Royal effigies were being scrubbed and begrimed marble columns scoured and polished—but in anticipation of another coronation, that of Edward VIII.

"Tiers of wooden seats will be built this spring high among the lofty columns of the nave and transepts to permit the squeezing of several thousand more spectators into space normally seating about 2,500. On the coronation day, when these galleries are filled to overflowing with ruling kings and queens in gorgeous robes, peers and ambassadors in smart uniforms, and peeresses glittering with gems, they will blaze with brilliant colors like a flowerbed against the gloomy interior of the somber building.

"The climax of the impressive centuries-old ceremony will be reached when church dignitaries place on George VI's head the historic St. Edward's crown.

"Other great English churches may be larger, older, or more impressively situated, but Westminster Abbey is more revered than any, holding a unique position as the church in which English monarchs are crowned. Since the first coronation in the existing abbey, that of Edward I in 1274, all the English sovereigns have been invested with their sovereignty there.

"In the Chapel of St. Edward the Confessor stands the famous Coronation Chair. To unknowing eyes it is a plain battered oak throne with a curious large stone under the seat. To loyal Britons it glows with more glory than did the gilt and decorations which originally covered it. For ever since Edward I had it constructed in 1301, it has served as the seat of the British monarch during the solemn coronation ceremony. The ancient stone, brought from Scotland by Edward I, is the famous Stone of Scone, on which the Scottish kings had formerly been crowned.

"The Coronation Chair, which the Queen will use was made for Mary, wife of William III.

Weddings, Funerals In Abbey
"The spectator who knows his history may well be thinking of the past as he watches George VI presented with the Ring, Orb, and Scepter next May. In his mind's eye he may see approaching from the shadows of centuries the long procession of British kings and queens who were crowned under this same roof. Among them may pick out Richard III, entering the Abbey bareheaded as a sign of humility; the boy king Edward VI, for whom the tedious ceremony was shortened; James II, from whose head the crown almost toppled; George IV, now in his heavy robes and wig, his face with handsomely, young Queen Victoria.

"Not only coronations, but also royal weddings have filled Westminster Abbey with splendid pageantry. George VI, when Duke of York, was married there on April 26, 1923.

In contrast to such festive occasions are solemn times when the hushed Abbey is draped in black for the funerals of royalty or of noted Britons. Under the canopy of the 18th century, the Abbey was the favorite burial place of English monarchs, and contains many of their gilded, or elaborately carved marble tombs. Even little Edward V, one of the princes murdered in the Tower, has his remains preserved here, thus achieving his rightful resting place, although he was cheated out of his coronation.

In a small room above Abbott's Chapel stand a number of life-size wax effigies of British royalty. Some of these are copies of leather or wood and canvas effigies which were dressed in the dead monarchs' clothes and displayed on their coffins. A few of the early wooden effigies are shown in the Abbey's Norman Undercroft.

"Among the wax figures is that of the beautiful Frances, Duchess of Richmond, who was the model for the case with her effigy is perched a stuffed gray parrot, her pet for forty years.

Approximately three million baseball bats are manufactured in the United States annually.

today there was no connection between supreme court decisions and sit-down strikes.

"The one man responsible for the sit-downs is John L. Lewis, who is closer to the ear of President Roosevelt than any other man," said Senator Burke.

"If he (Lewis) would give the word, these strikes would end tomorrow.

"Attacks on the court in congress have caused large groups of our people to lose some measure of respect for law and the constitution," Burke contended, referring to outbursts in congress yesterday, "and that condition would naturally engender discord."

Senator Black (D-Ala.), an advocate of the bill, declared during a heated Senate session that the supreme court majority had so restricted federal powers "as to make it impossible for congress to pass legislation tending to alleviate strike conditions."

2 Killed, 4 Arrested In New York Robbery

New York — (P) — A $30,000 hold-up, which went into rehearsal Thursday and opened late yesterday before an audience of police detectives in Twenty-ninth street, put two men in the morgue today and four others in jail.

Meticulously planned, acted out beforehand just to make sure, the looting of a fur manufacturer's second-floor plant at the evening rush hour was frustrated because detectives had waited for it for two weeks.

The dead men, who were a costly split-second behind the police in reaching for their guns, were Joseph Epstein, 44, and Julius Richman, 33, both of Brooklyn, and both with criminal records.

Four tight-lipped, sturdy prisoners, captured as they emerged from the building, gave these names: David Silvers, 33, Joseph Catrone, 27, James Thompson, 21, all of Brooklyn, and George Bickendorf, 27, of Ridgewood, Queens.

Major Bowes Has Most Luxurious
Car in the World

Called World's Most Extraordinary Automobile, And It's Useful

All the comforts of home, all the conveniences of the best appointed office and all the luxury of a maharaja's palace are combined in the new Chrysler Airflow recently delivered to Major Edward Bowes, the famous impresario of the radio amateur hour. This is beyond doubt the world's most extraordinary automobile in the variety and magnificence of its fittings. Unlike a trailer, it doesn't include sleeping accommodations, but there is about everything that anyone could need during his waking hours.

The car is a very large one, with a chassis of 146 inches wheel base and an eight-cylinder engine of 150 horsepower. It is approximately 20 feet in overall length. But size is only one of its many extraordinary features. Ingeniously fitted into the interior are all sorts of devices for serving food and beverages, for writing, for smoking, for making a hasty toilet and even for shaving. Yes, there is an electric razor, which is said to be a great comfort to the Major as in the midst of his many activities he is always well groomed.

The novel interior was designed by F. A. Selje, Chrysler's chief interior body designer. The mechanical work was done by the Le-Daron Detroit Company, with John Volzke, chief body engineer in direct charge, under the supervision of Mr. Selje. It is the most elaborate job of refitting the interior of a car ever attempted and it has worked out to the complete satisfaction of the fastidious Major Bowes.

The greatest ingenuity was used in designing the console that is placed on the division between front and rear compartments. At the top center of this console is an instrument grouping that includes barometer, clock, compass and altimeter. Above these are two humidor compartments, one of which is all covered by ornamental metal covers. On each side of the instrument grouping are compartments holding bottles and glasses of very handsome design.

With this magnificent vehicle at his command, the busy Major will not have to waste any time when traveling about New York or between the city and his country home in Ossining. As he has to make every minute count to keep abreast of his tremendous daily program, he was thinking of utility as well as luxury when he ordered this Chrysler Airflow.

Obviously, you won't have need for an automobile such as that owned by Major Bowes, but you will get the utmost for your car dollar when you choose from one of the new Chryslers awaiting you at the Van Zeeland Garage, 615 W. College avenue, in Appleton. Here, too, you can ask to be shown the famous new Plymouths.

Willing Workers to Convene at Shiocton
 Shiocton — The Willing Workers of Christ Congregational church will hold their monthly meeting at the church parlors Wednesday afternoon. The following committee will entertain: Mrs. Harvey Pooler, Mrs. George Kaufman, Mrs. Louis Booth, Mrs. Harry Strong and Mrs. Ernest Thorpe.

Members of the Rebekah lodge held their meeting at the Odd Fellows hall Thursday evening. Following the business meeting, cards and dominoes furnished entertainment.

Prizes were awarded as follows: five hundred, Mrs. Alice Felsner, high, and Mrs. Louis Booth, low; schafkopf, Mrs. Chester Dumond, high, and Mrs. Leon Kennedy, low; and at dominoes, Mrs. Claude Berzill, high, and Mrs. Charles Hogenboom, low. The entertainment committee for the evening included Mrs. Ray Wilkins, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Mack, Mrs. Herman Miller, Mrs. James Colburn, Miss Marion Newton and Miss Marjorie Johnson. The Parent-Teacher association of the Shiocton State Graded school has postponed its March meeting because of Easter vacation. The next meeting will be held April 22 with the following committee: Program—Mrs. Monroe Manley, Mrs. James Colburn, Mrs. John Thompson, refreshments—Mrs. Emil Sankovyl, Mrs. Louis Booth and Mrs. Kenneth Andrews.

Recent dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilford Speehr were Mr. and Mrs. Howard Andrews, Miss Lorraine Andrews, Willie Andrews and Bob Withnau.

ADOPT PUPPIES
 Des Moines, Ia.,—The Des Moines animal rescue league advertised it had sixteen puppies for adoption. Between 1,000 and 1,500 persons, coming by street car, automobile or afoot, crowded into the shelter the following day.

They not only took all of the sixteen puppies within an hour after the place opened but all the rest of the homeless dogs.

SKUNKS MOVE IN
 Portland, Mich.,—Two skunks which crawled under the Hamill District school here caused the hurried evacuation.

Mrs. Christine Guilford, the teacher, is holding classes in the nearby farm home of Mrs. Alice Dutcher.

The school board has set traps under the school house and is hoping for the best.

Friendliness and Good Food Please
'State' Customers

Popular Restaurant Offers Swift Service to Every Patron

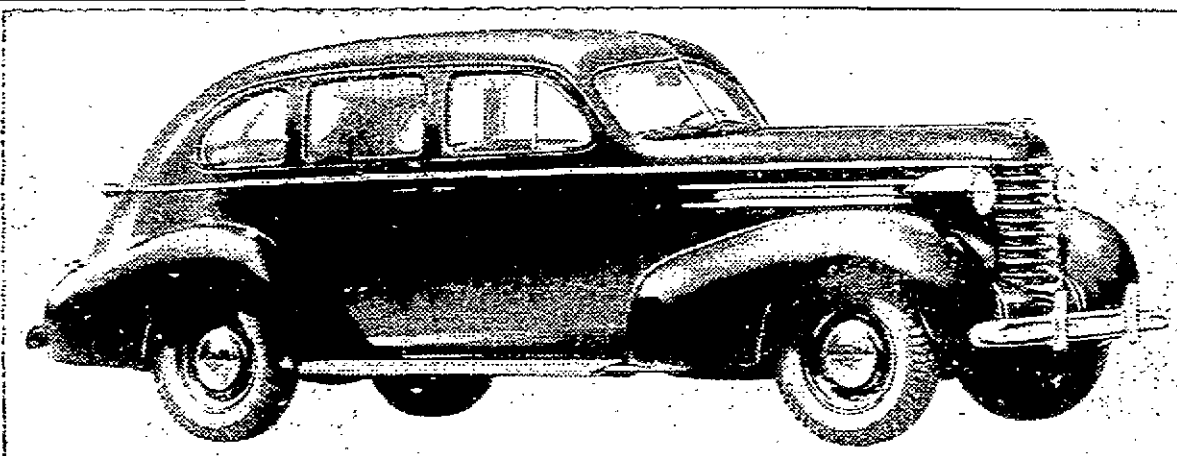

There must be some good reasons why familiar faces reappear at the new State Restaurant. They must like the atmosphere of friendliness and courtesy, the excellent foods, satisfying service, and reasonable prices. These combined, perhaps, explain why new admiration is expressed daily by its constant stream of patrons.

To many people the pleasure of enjoying fine foods in distinctive surroundings suggests high prices. But this does not hold true at the State. When all is said and done, dining in this comfortable and attractive restaurant costs considerably less than in places of comparable quality.

There is harmony, too, in its service. For proof, come in today and enjoy a real meal minus the usual hustle and bustle characteristic of many restaurants. Its waitresses and chefs get along in perfect harmony. You will experience a minimum of waiting — no loud shouting, no wrong orders — just efficient service in a way you are sure to approve of.

Then, too, food, in order to taste good must be prepared under the most sanitary conditions and that accounts in a large measure for the success of the State Restaurant. Cleanliness is uppermost in the minds of those who serve you. The dishes are sure to be clean for the State Restaurant "washes them, rubs them, rinses them, dries them, scrubs them," and dries them until they are sparklingly clean.

Spinach was introduced to Europe about the fifteenth century. It is probably of Persian origin.

Super service day and night explains best, perhaps, the reasons why so many motorists depend on the H. R. Dutcher Motor Company, located at 210 N. Morrison street, for the fulfillment of their needs. Its wide variety of services administered in a most modern and clean shop manned by expert mechanics who are known for their ability to do quality work and give courteous service and its 100 per cent guarantee to please every customer or return their money ranks this firm high in the list of firms delegated the job of serving motorists.

The Dutcher motor car service equipment is of the finest, enabling them to do quality work with the minimum of time, thereby affecting a saving which is passed on to the customer. Featured among the newest pieces of equipment recently

Jahnke's Spring
'Tonic' for Cars
Costs You Little

Reliable Auto Wreckers Offer Wide Variety Of Good Parts

You know it is Spring—but what about your car? Cars need Spring tonics, too. It is up to you to take care of it—make it run better, easier, and safer. And now is the time to start! Warmer weather means a lot of changes and the August Jahnke Wrecking company, with its long list of services, is the one to help you and at the most economical cost.

The many services which the Jahnke firm features and which motorists for many years have found to their advantage include dealing in used and new parts, accessories of every description from window glass to trunk carriers, the selling of good used tires at a substantial saving, the rebuilding and repairing of damaged cars by expert repairmen, skilled in this trade, the selling of used cars, a modern towing service, and its daily employe service being open until 10 p. m. including Sundays.

Many automobile repair bills are needlessly high, the Jahnke firm points out, because too often new parts, for example, used in replacements of old and broken parts, are unnecessary purchases by the autoist because this firm's stock of low cost, quality used parts could have been satisfactorily substituted without sacrificing in the least, the quality of the repair job. If you find that buying car parts and servicing of your car are important items in the upkeep, you will be able to save considerably by using Jahnke's good, used parts.

The August Jahnke Wrecking Company's headquarters are conveniently located on Highway 41 between Appleton and Menasha. It will pay you to check over your Spring car needs and make your selections at Jahnke's immediately.

Riverside Greenhouse Holds Annual Spring Floral Preview

Flower lovers—and there are thousands of them living in this vicinity—are welcoming the news of the Riverside Greenhouse annual Easter flower and Spring Flower Show tomorrow.

The greenhouses, arranged and dressed in newest flower fashions, will be opened at 9 Sunday morning and will remain open until 6 p. m. Thousands of lovely Easter lilies will be on display, along with a magnificent array of Tulips, Hydrangeas, Cinerarias, Rosebushes and cut flowers.

The Riverside headquarters are located at 1236 E. Pacific street, and this complete, modern year-around "garden" will be a revelation to those who have never visited it before.

The affair is regarded as the preview of the spring flower season in the Appleton area, and flower lovers, whether active or passive in their interest, will find that their visit to Riverside will more than repay them. There is, of course, no obligation.
